Pathologist Says Injection Couldn't Kill

Harvard Expert's Tests Show Sander's Air Dose Too Small

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 7 (AP)—A Harvard pathologist appearing for Dr. Hermann N. Sander testified today injection of 40 cubic centimeters of air could not have killed Mrs. Abbie Borroto.

The 41-year-old Dr. Sander is on trial for murder on charges he killed the cancer-stricken woman by injecting that amount of air into her veins.

Dr. Richard Ford, head of the department of legal medicine at Harvard, testified that between 200 and 300 ccs of air delivered within 25 seconds would be required to kill a human being.

Dr. Ford said he was basing this estimate on findings that eight cubic centimeters per two and one-fifth pounds of body weight were required to kill a dog.

Two state pathologists had testified for the prosecution they believed Mrs. Borroto died from air embolism caused by the injections.

"Forty ccs of air is not enough to block any appreciable part of the arterial system leading to the human lung," said Dr. Ford.

The defense has argued that only between 25 and 28 ccs of air were injected into the cancer-wasted woman—and that she was already dead at the time.

Opening the morning session of the 12th day of the trial, Dr. Sander's wife, Alice, took the witness stand.

Dr. Ford said animal experiments tend to prove "that a calculated amount of 200 to 300 ccs is probably the essential amount delivered needed to kill a human being."

The fact that a human being's heart action was poor at the time, he said, would not make any difference.

"A fatal dose of air is an all or none phenomena," said the defense pathologist, explaining its reaction would be the same regardless of the condition of the heart.

When Dr. Ford took the stand the defense brought out from the tall young pathologist that he considered himself an expert on the subject of air embolism—the effect of air injected into the human body.

"During the past year," he said, "I have been engaged in a study of air embolism as to the quantities involved and the mechanism of death."

Dr. Ford said that by air is "quite rare." He said he examined 60,000 autopsy records in Washington and uncovered 44 cases of air embolism deaths. Twelve of these cases, he said, were similar to the "kind in question."

He gave a detailed explanation of cardio-pulmonary embolism—the type the state alleges killed Mrs. Borroto.

The Harvard pathologist said such an embolism "may or may not be fatal" depending upon the amount of air injected and the speed with which it is injected.

The doctor explained that air in the blood stream may move in the form of bubbles—or just a continuous stream of air. He said when it displaced blood in the heart's valves the valves were not able to function properly. He likened the action to a kitchen pump when water gets out of the pump.

One Slightly Hurt As Car, Motorcycle Collide

An auto-motorcycle accident at the corner of S. Broadway and Columbia st. at 10:25 a. m. Monday resulted in one injury and damage to the car, police reported.

A car operated by Donald Mayhew of R. D. 2, Salem, emerged from Columbia st. onto Broadway, directly into the path of Leonard Quinn of R. D. 2, Salem, who was riding the motorcycle. The left side of the car was damaged by the collision.

Quinn suffered a lacerated chin.

Dancing Issue To Be Decided At Goshen High Saturday

To dance or not to dance? That's the No. 1 question to be decided by adult residents of the Goshen Union School District in special balloting Saturday at the Goshen High School building in neighboring Damascus.

Who wants to dance? The children who are students at the high school. It's a paramount issue with them, as long as a United Nations problem, as one senior girl put it.

Why not dance? That's what the school students want to know. Most of them, at least. However, dancing has never been permitted at Goshen because their elders, many of them deeply religious, frown on it. School boards at Damascus always have refused to permit dancing in the school building at class parties.

But now, the board of education has decided to put the issue up to a vote because petitions were circulated throughout the school district asking the board to permit dancing. The board issued pamphlets explaining the issue and these were carried home by the students.

The polls will open at 7 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. Saturday with all ballots being cast secretly at the high school building. When the ballots are counted two tellers opposed to dancing and two in favor of it will check the return.

A heavy vote is anticipated.

Shipkov Says He Was U. S. Spy

Tortured Interpreter Confesses For Reds

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 7 (AP)—Michael Shipkov, former Bulgarian translator in the U. S. legation here, confessed yesterday to a peoples court that he had spied for America under the personal direction of former U. S. Minister Donald R. Heath.

(The trial opened only two days after the U. S. State Department had released a dramatic affidavit, signed earlier by Shipkov, revealing how Bulgarian police had extorted a false confession from him by ruthlessly breaking down his will. He had requested that the affidavit be made public in order to clear his name in the event of a trial, which he evidently felt was inevitable.)

Shipkov and four other Bulgarians pleaded guilty and confirmed the written confessions of spying they had made to investigating police before the trial. A co-defendant with Shipkov was Kivka Rindova, former telephone operator at the U. S. legation. Also on the dock were Stefan Kratkov, Incia Tzanov and Vassil Nalchev.

Shipkov told the court that Heath—minister in Bulgaria until the U. S. broke relations with that country and closed its legation in Sofia last month—had "inspired in me the conception that the present (Communist-led Bulgarian) regime is transitional."

He said Heath had "under-lined that the United States are actively interested in the return of western democracy to Bulgaria."

"My official work in the legation was interpreter," Shipkov declared, adding that "my unofficial activity consisted in gathering information for American intelligence."

$4,500 Collected In Red Cross Drive

Early reports in the 1950 Red Cross drive indicate Salem area people again are giving full financial support so that the local chapter and national agency may continue their multiple services. Bob Engel chairman of the campaign said today $4,499.66 has been reported up to Tuesday morning.

These contributions have come largely from local industries and employees and through the special gifts committee which includes clubs and church organizations. Fred Limestahl is chairman of the industrial division and Stephen Gonda heads the special gifts committee.

Engel said the Friday reports will give a better idea of the progress of the campaign as the house to house workers and other committees are to make reports then. The goal in Salem is $14,893, of which $10,445 is retained by the local chapter.

Salem will be represented this evening when Gen. George C. Marshall, president of the American Red Cross will speak at 8 p. m. at Stambaugh auditorium in Youngstown to spearhead the Youngstown Red Cross campaign.

Former Prince To Speak Here

Otto Of Austria At Town Hall Thursday

"Between Moscow and Washington" will be the subject of an address by former Crown Prince Otto of Austria when he speaks at the concluding Town Hall meeting Thursday night at 8 in the Salem High School auditorium.

Otto's appearance here a year ago resulted in a warm invitation to return and he agreed.

The first years of his childhood were spent at the Imperial castles in Vienna and Budapest. After the revolution of 1919, he left with his family for Switzerland and later for the Island of Madeira, Portuguese Africa, where his father died in 1922.

Otto of Austria studied in Switzerland, Spain, and France. He attended the University of Louvain, Belgium, where he studied political and social science. He graduated as a Doctor of Political Science at the age of 21.

During the early stages of Hitler's conquests, Otto was in France attempting to get French support for his country and it was from there that he issued a proclamation to the Austrian people, inviting them to continue the fight against Hitler by underground methods.

The same day the German military authorities issued a warrant for his arrest. Later his highness was tried in absentia by a German court and condemned to death on charges of organizing underground revolutionary groups in Austria against Hitler.

During the war Otto spent much time in Washington where he worked with other leaders of Central Europe in the common cause of the United Nations.

Colds Epidemic Shuts Lisbon Schools For Week

LISBON, March 7 — Village schools were closed here late yesterday afternoon for the remainder of the week because of the outbreak of a virus infection.

The closing order was issued by Dr. Robert Dunlap, county health commissioner. Virus infection and common colds had boosted the absenteeism in Lisbon schools to 25 per cent of the 390 pupils enrolled.

Dust Storms, Fires Threaten Western Crops

Texas, New Mexico Hard Hit; Rains Badly Needed

By The Associated Press

A double-barrelled threat to farmlands — fire and dust — plagued wide areas of the Plains states today.

High winds whipped up dust clouds yesterday over thousands of acres of cropland. Visibility was cut to half a mile in some parts of Texas and New Mexico.

In Kansas, two traffic fatalities were blamed on dust clouds. At Garden City in western Kansas visibility and ceiling was reported at zero for a 30-minute period.

The dust brought back memories of the "black blizzards" of the 1930's because it started blowing so early in the year. However, it is not anywhere near as severe as in 1933 and 1936 when dust storms destroyed thousands of acres of rich cropland and ruined countless farmers.

A fresh blast of cold air with drifting snow swept across eastern Nebraska and headed for the North Central states. Blizzard conditions were forecast for the Dakotas and Minnesota.

But the northeastern part of the country had coldest weather, with temperatures below zero in some parts of New England. Readings were far above normal in the southern Plains states and the middle Mississippi valley, with temperatures in the 50's as far north as Iowa.

High winds were reported over much of the central part of the country. Yesterday's high winds also sent prairie fires whipping across parts of Texas, Kansas and Nebraska.

In Texas, four separate fires blackened thousands of acres of choice ranch and wheatlands. All were in the Texas Panhandle.

The largest fire, near Dumas, raged out of control for hours. An estimated 700 persons fought the flames. Some cattle and small buildings were destroyed.

Firemen from seven towns and hundreds of volunteers fought nine hours to control a huge grass fire near Angola in western Nebraska. Fire Chief J. G. Thavert of Scottsbluff, Neb., said the flames destroyed at least 115 haystacks and burned over more than 15,000 acres.

Fires also swept thousands of acres in Kansas. Volunteers from eight towns helped fight flames that blackened about 36 square miles near Ellinwood in Central Kansas. Fires blazed near Hutchinson, killing some cattle and destroying haystacks.

A grass fire menaced Junction City in northeast Kansas but was checked before reaching the city limits.

Farmers expressed some concern over what effect the winds might have on the dry croplands. However, conditions in some areas of the Plains states were somewhat similar last year and late rainfall helped turn out excellent crops.

Flasher Lights Now Warn Motorists Of Train's Approach At Washingtonville Rt. 14 Crossing

Washingtonville may not have the busiest railroad thoroughfare in Ohio, but now it has one of the best protected grade crossings in the state.

Electric signals were erected at the crossing and the 11 pairs of flashers blink nervously twice each day when the Erie Railroad freight train enters the village on the Lisbon-Niles branch.

Officials, individuals, and organizations of Washingtonville and nearby communities have been campaigning for the signals for five years. The promotion was brought to the boiling point last fall after the third fatal accident at the crossing in three years.

There had been 12 other accidents at the crossing during this period. Washingtonville council in December discussed the possibility of blocking the crossing. Mayor Lloyd Culler led the drive to get the warning lights. He and other village leaders made a trip to Columbus to protest the lack of action on the part of the railroad and state.

Lewis' Gains May Be Lever For More Industrial Raises

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—Gains won by John L. Lewis for coal miners may be used as a lever to open the way for wage boosts in other industries.

That would suit Lewis. His United Mine Workers yesterday offered a million-dollar loan to help the CIO United Auto Workers win new concessions from Chrysler and General Motors.

Lewis is the first big labor leader to break through the dike built by employers with government help to stop spiraling post-war wages.

A board appointed by President Truman in the steel strike dispute last fall recommended welfare plan improvements worth about 10 cents an hour for workers generally, but counseled against increasing pay rates.

On this basis, CIO President Philip Murray signed a steel industry contract without a wage increase, but with pension-welfare benefits worth perhaps a little better than 10 cents an hour, or something around $1 a day for each worker.

Now the determined Lewis comes along to deliver to his miners contract improvements worth about $1.40 a day per man—including not only an expensive boost in revenues for the miners' welfare fund, but also a 70-cent-a-day cash wage boost.

That wage precedent will be an arguing point for many unions from now on for more wages, reviving their hopes that if Lewis could break through the steel fact-board's no-wage-increase formula, they can too.

The Auto Workers are now in the eighth week of a strike for pensions with Chrysler and have demanded a 31-cent hourly contract "package" improvement from General Motors. The GM contract expires in May. Lewis said in the loan offer that the coal miners were opposed to "the financial group that dominates" auto manufacturing.

Murray's own steelworkers will probably ask a wage boost Turn to LEWIS, Page 12

Flasher Lights Now Warn Motorists Of Train's Approach At Washingtonville Rt. 14 Crossing

As an Erie Railroad freight train crosses Route 14 at Washingtonville, 11 new pairs of flashers now warn motorists. Heretofore there were no flashers of any kind and several fatal accidents occurred.

During the winter the Erie stopped all trains as they entered the village limits and sent flagmen to the crossing to warn highway traffic of the approaching train.

The estimated cost of the crossing signals is $11,820. The railroad is to pay 10 per cent of the expense, while the federal government, through the state, is paying 90 per cent.

BROOKLINE, Mass., March 7 (AP)—Lew Lehr, 54, who attained fame as a newsreel comedian with his remark that "monkeys is the craziest people," died yesterday.

A native of Philadelphia, Lehr made his home in New Canaan, Conn., with his wife, the former Anna Leonhardt.

He was a musical comedy and vaudeville actor for 21 years before entering the movies where he was a commentator for Fox Movietone Newsreels.

Lehr made movies of sports events hilarious with his funny comments. Among his funniest satires were "Lew Lehr's Unnatural History," "Magic Carpet" and "Lew Lehr's Dribble Puss Parade."

Motorist Dies Of Injuries

William Chain, Jr., Victim Of Rt. 14 Crash

William Blaine Chain, Jr., 33, of 264 Potomac ave., Youngstown, one of five persons injured in the Millville hill auto-truck accident early Saturday morning, died of a fractured skull at 5:10 p. m. Monday in Salem City Hospital.

Born Dec. 10, 1916 in Avalon, Pa., he was the son of William Blaine and Elizabeth Carlin Chain Sr., of R. D. 1 Salem.

Mr. Chain was the owner of the Rodney Welding and Boiler Co., of Alliance. He was a member of the K. of P. Lodge of Columbiana and the Bethlehem Lutheran Church of Youngstown.

Formerly of Pittsburgh, he moved to Youngstown nine years ago. He graduated from Avalon (Pa.) High School, where he starred in football, attended the University of Pittsburgh and the Keystone School of Engineering in Pittsburgh.

Survivors besides his parents include his wife, Bernice Stenson, whom he married 12 years ago; a daughter, Carol, at home; two brothers, James C. Chain of Philadelphia and Robert F. of R. D. 1, Salem; a sister, Mrs. David P. Atkinson of Cleveland.

Funeral service will be held at 1:30 p. m. Thursday at the Hofmeister funeral home in Youngstown where friends may call Wednesday evening. Rev. Ben Varner pastor of the Bethlehem Lutheran Church, will officiate. Interment will be in Lake Park Cemetery, Youngstown.

$300,000 Blaze Hits Cleveland Business

CLEVELAND, March 7 (AP)—Firemen still poured water into a smoldering, five-story brick building in downtown Cleveland this morning after a blaze caused an estimated $300,000 damage.

The fire-fighters, hampered by dense smoke, got the flames under control a little more than an hour after the first of five alarms was turned in last night.

Chief Elmer Cain said the blaze apparently started in the quarters of the David Lombardy Co., wholesale grocers, on the first floor. worked its way toward the rear of the building and then raced up an elevator shaft, igniting the other floors.

Water damage was extensive to the Kina Winery, Inc., immediately east of the burning structure, and to the nearby Cleveland Wholesale Grocery, Inc.

Sub Atomic Power Is Westinghouse Project

PITTSBURGH, March 7 (AP)—The Westinghouse Electric Corp. is building an atomic power plant for a U. S. Navy submarine.

The work is being done, the company said yesterday, at the old Bettis airport near Pittsburgh.

Previously, the company had disclosed only that it was making an atomic power plant for a naval vessel and the project had been the subject of much discussion.

Scientists have said an atomic powered submarine could run virtually forever without refueling.

Conspiracy And Espionage Charges Stick

Girl Faces 25 Years, Russian 15; Jury Out Since 4:35 Monday

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP)—Judith Coplon and Valentin A. Gubitchev, the Soviet engineer, were found guilty today of conspiracy and attempted espionage.

A federal court jury of six men and six women ruled that the former government employee and the stocky, blond Russian met secretly in New York and plotted to spy for Soviet Russia.

It announced its verdict at 11:45 a. m. after having been locked up overnight. The jurors went out at 4:35 p. m. yesterday.

Miss Coplon, 28, was found guilty on two counts—one of conspiracy and one of attempted espionage. She was found innocent of another charge that she attempted to transmit classified FBI documents to unauthorized persons.

Both she and Gubitchev, 33, were convicted on a conspiracy charge to commit espionage by removing classified documents from government files and to defraud the United States of her impartial services.

Both defendants were remanded to jail for sentencing at 10:30 a. m. (EST) Thursday.

Miss Coplon can receive a maximum penalty of 25 years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Gubitchev faces a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison and a $20,000 fine. Miss Coplon is already under 40 months to 10 years sentence for conviction on similar charges in Washington, D. C.

As she left the courtroom, Miss Coplon smiled weakly and kissed one of her attorneys, Leonard Boudin, and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Coplon.

The first count in the four count indictment of which both were found guilty charged with conspiracy to commit espionage, specifying removal of classified government documents and defrauding the U. S. government of Miss Coplon's impartial services. The maximum penalty is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The second count, of which she was found innocent, accused her of attempted espionage by attempting to transmit government documents to unauthorized persons. If convicted on this count, she could have been sentenced to 10 years and a $10,000 fine.

The third count, of which Gubitchev was found guilty, accused him alone of acting as an unauthorized person attempting to receive secret government documents. The maximum penalty is 10 years and a $10,000 fine.

The fourth count, of which Miss Coplon was found guilty, accused her alone of attempted espionage in trying to transmit documents

Cartoonist Donates To Busch's Campaign

CLEVELAND, March 7 (AP)—Herbert L. Block had turned over his $500 Heywood Brown memorial award, won because of his cartoons in The Washington Post, to a Democratic senatorial candidate's campaign fund.

Block, who signs his drawings "Herblock," sent the $500 to Henry Miller Busch, a professor at Cleveland College striving for the nomination.

The Brown award winner also sent a letter to Busch explaining he believed the money should go to "the campaign of a fighting liberal."

Block formerly worked for the Newspaper Enterprise Association here and was a former student of Busch's.

Warren Strike Leader Jailed

9-Month Fight Ends;
UEW President Fined

WARREN, March 7—(AP)—The longest, bitterest strike in Warren history was at an end today, with the leader of the unsuccessful walkout due to start a jail sentence for strike violence.

The strike lasted nine months. During that time, violence repeatedly flared up at the picket lines which Local 750, United Electrical Workers, set up.

Yesterday, the union called off the strike. Its action came about the same time that local President Frank Motter was sentenced to seven days in county jail here and fined $200 and costs.

Union demands for an eight-cent hourly pay boost, a pension program and other benefits have been turned down and Taylor-Winfield now refuses to recognize the UE local.

Moreover, the company said it was uncertain whether it would rehire the strikers, even though it would take job applications from them.

Two other union men were given similar sentences and fines to Motter's in common pleas court after all three pleaded guilty to charges of malicious destruction of property. They were accused of throwing rocks at a car owned by the plant superintendent, Melvin A. Roney.

The others sentenced were (An actual case of one man's experience with The Salem News Want Ads)

The first time Harold had an occasion to use Salem News Want Ads was nearly 15 years ago when he got married. Right then, he received excellent results and rented a house through the use of Salem News Want Ads.

His wife needed a gas range shortly thereafter and it was easy to find one by inserting a News Want Ad.

Harold had a pear tree and from it gathered a surplus of six bushels of pears. You guessed it, he sold them through the use of a News Want Ad.

Then a friend of Harold's had a home outside of the city which he wished to sell. Harold found a buyer, by using Salem News Want Ads, and received a nice commission.

After having such wonderful results from Salem News Want Ads, Harold depended solely upon it to settle an estate which required a public auction of many household items and a house to be sold. Both requirements were advertised very satisfactorily by the use of News Want Ads.

As movie cameras were hard to find shortly after the war, he relied on a Salem News Want Ad to find him one. It did, and quickly too.

When he had his kitchen remodeled, the old sink was sold with the use of a classified ad. The extra money came in handy right when he was remodeling.

Just several weeks ago, Harold bought his wife an Ironite ironer through the Salem News Want Ads.

U.S. Super-Highway To Cut North Of Salem

By 1955 you'll be able to drive from New York City to within 165 miles of Chicago on super-highways largely free of interchanges, stoplights and other obstacles to smooth, speedy travel.

Back in the 1930's there was a lot of talk about a nationwide network of super-roads, but highway experts dismissed it as impractical dreaming. Now, however, the eastern third of that network is nearly a reality. Incredible increases in motor traffic have compelled it.

The original and still most important link in the east-west route is the famed Pennsylvania Turnpike, stretching 160 miles from the outskirts of Pittsburgh to a point near Harrisburg. This spectacular highway slicing through the stubborn Allegheny Mountains proved such a whopping success that it gave a big boost to the super-highway trend.

At the moment a 100-mile eastward extension of this road is being built from Harrisburg to the suburbs of Philadelphia. It's due for completion in 1951. Also in the works is a westward addition by-passing Pittsburgh and arching 60 miles to the Ohio border below Youngstown. Scheduled opening is 1953.

Just getting under way is the 118-mile New Jersey Turnpike. It will run from the George Washington bridge, opposite Manhattan, south and west to the Delaware River at Deepwater, N. J. There it will link up with a new bridge that will carry traffic into Delaware. Motorists should be using this road by November next year.

While this is the turnpike's main course, it will send an offshoot westward over the Delaware farther upstate to connect with the regular Pennsylvania Turnpike in the Philadelphia outskirts. It is this link that will bear the heavy transcontinental traffic.

A little farther in the future is the proposed Ohio Turnpike which will join the Pennsylvania super-highway at the border near Petersburg, O. Plans are being drafted, but no construction has started, for a road that probably will swing up between Akron and Cleveland and thence westward below the shores of Lake Erie, past Toledo to the Indiana line.

Franklin Square Church To Continue Services

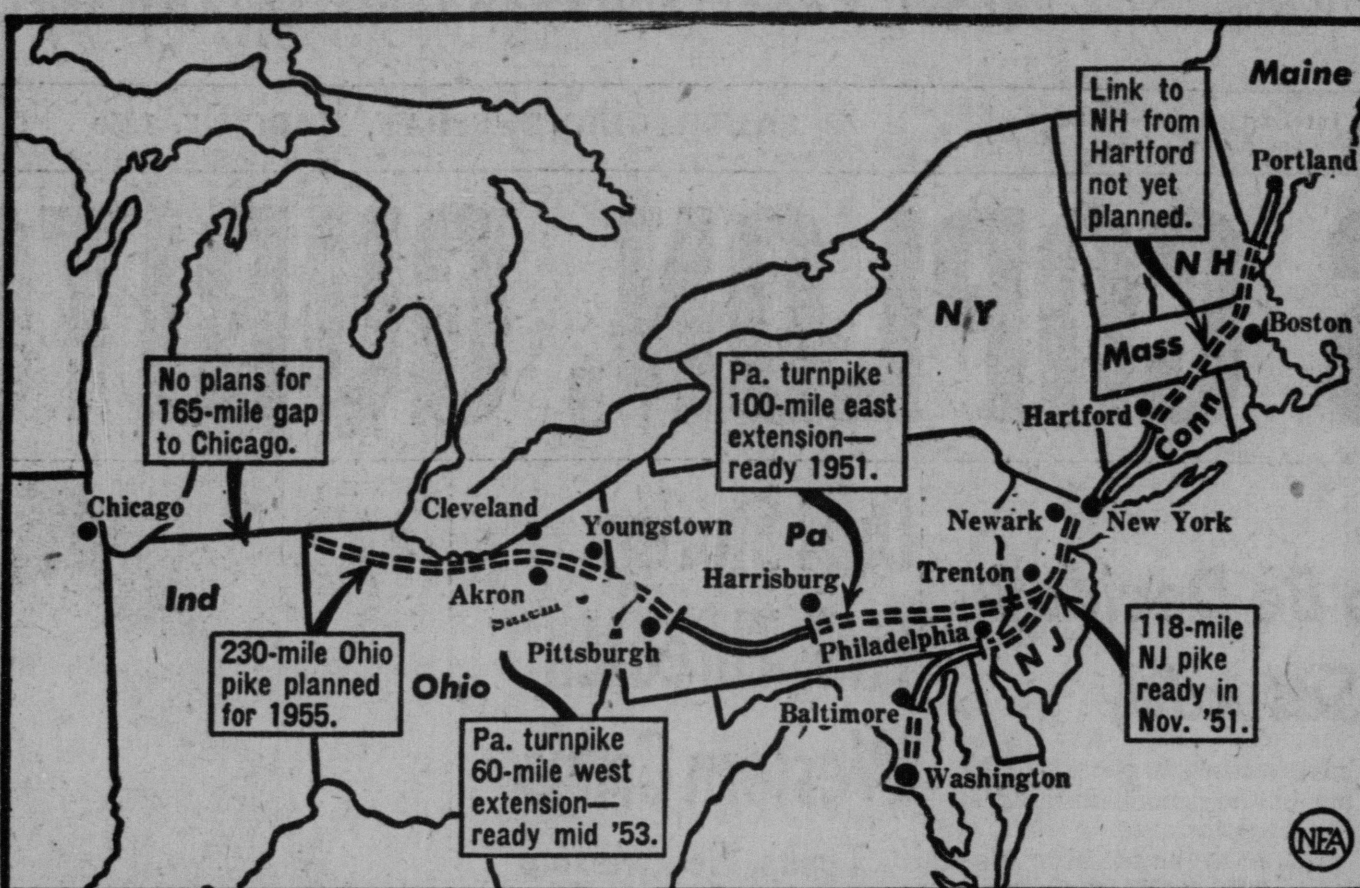

Special services which began in the Franklin Square Methodist Church Sunday will continue each evening at 7:30 except Saturday.

The pastor, Rev. Wilbur Cook, will be assisted by Prof. Robert Powell and Prof. Roger Ortmayr, both of Mt. Union College, Alliance, who will speak on Wednesday and Friday evenings, respectively.

Topics for the week are: Tonight, "The Heat of Love;" Tuesday, "Me? Talk With God?;" Wednesday, "God's One Family;" Thursday, "God Acts in Mysterious Ways His Love To Perform;" Friday, "Lord I Believe."

WANT TAFT'S AID

COLUMBUS, March 7—(UP)—The Columbus branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People asked U.S. Senator Robert A. Taft (R) of Ohio today to lead Ohio's fight for a federal FEPC bill.

EXTENSION OF the Pennsylvania turnpike westward into Ohio will put the super-road north of Salem as indicated in above map.

Indiana has no present plans for a turnpike to complete the system to Chicago. But traffic funneling into Indiana's existing routes from the rest of the network may exert so much pressure that the state will be forced to add the final 165-mile section.

Extensions westward from Chicago appear far less likely, at least for a long time. Highway experts doubt that such roads would be practical across the plains and the western mountains, even with a continuing rise in traffic volume. They figure travel still wouldn't be heavy enough to make the super-highway idea pay off.

But a chain of super-roads is shaping up along a north-south axis on the Atlantic seaboard. Already in use is the Maine Turnpike from Portland south to the New Hampshire line, with a connecting bridge over the Salmon Falls river. The short segment of New Hampshire lying between Maine and Massachusetts also will soon be spanned by a parkway. Massachusetts is in about the same spot as Indiana on the western route. It has no positive plans to join the seaboard network, but traffic realities may drive it into the pattern.

Other pressure will be felt from below as Connecticut extends the existing Wilbur Cross Parkway from the vicinity of Hartford in mid-state to the Massachusetts border. The heavy New York-Boston traffic is a big argument for completing the system.

South from Hartford the Wilbur Cross Parkway joins the Merritt Parkway, which in turn ties into the Hutchinson River Parkway in the New York area.

The New Jersey turnpike will carry the north-south motorist over the Delaware, not far from Wilmington, where he will connect with a well-engineered, divided four-lane route to Baltimore. This section is not, however, a super-highway. It has no parkway features or limited access from side roads.

A proposed new bridge over the Patapsco river at Baltimore is intended to carry interstate travelers on a by-pass course east of the city and to a link with the Baltimore-Washington Parkway, a six-lane thoroughfare now under construction.

From Washington south four-lane roads take the motorist almost to the North Carolina border. But little of this route now meets the stiff engineering standards for high speed super-highways.

Grandmother Saves Veteran From Suicide

CLEVELAND, March 7—(AP)—A despondent 29-year-old veteran was alive today, thanks to the courage of his grandmother. She frustrated his attempt to fool police into pumping bullets into him as a part of his suicide scheme.

The young man evidently telephoned to police, saying there was a "prowler" in the attic of his home. When they arrived, his grandmother answered the door. The veteran jumped from behind a curtain, leveling what looked like a machine pistol at the law agents. The two police officers drew quickly to return the expected fire, but the grandmother leaped in front of the guns to shield her grandson.

The "gun" turned out to be a penny arcade prop used in electric shooting gallery equipment. The veteran told police he was despondent over the failure of a grocery store he opened in October and had to close two months later.

They Helped Advance Ohio

Kettering, Schlemmer, Henrich Among 9 Ohioans Honored

COLUMBUS, March 7—(AP)—Nine persons whose achievements have helped "the advancement of Ohio's prestige" will receive the governor's award March 9 at the Ohio Newspaper Association convention.

Three of the recipients will be unable to be present. Persons getting the awards were selected by the Ohio Development and Publicity Commission. Gov.

Frank J. Lausche will present them.

The winners and their achievements are listed by the commission:

Charles F. Kettering, Loudonville and Dalton, inventor of the automatic starter, lighting, and ignition systems "who has constantly advanced the comfort, safety and speed of 'America on Wheels.'" He is touring South America now.

Jim Schlemmer of The Akron Beacon Journal, and the Chevrolet Motor division of General Motors, for sponsoring the All-American Soap Box Derby staged yearly in Akron. Schlemmer, Beacon Journal sports editor, now is covering spring training of the Cleveland Indians at Tucson, Ariz.

Tommy Henrich, Massillon, voted the outstanding athlete of the year. The commission said Henrich "through clean, competitive and outstanding participation as an athlete has caused Ohio to reflect in his fame." Henrich, star outfielder for the New York Yankees, is in spring training at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Red Cross Campaign Opened In Leetonia

LEETONIA, March 7—Mrs. Joseph Burick, Red Cross representative, announces the opening of the annual Red Cross Drive here.

The campaign here this year will be conducted differently than in previous years. Instead of the usual door-to-door canvas, the 1950 campaign will be carried on by mail.

Contributions may be delivered to or mailed to either the Peoples Federal Savings & Loan Association or the Citizens Savings Bank. The local committee will mail letters to each family in the area.

GOP County Chairmen To Meet In Columbus

Ray C. Bliss, Republican state chairman, today announced that he is calling a meeting of chairmen of the Republican central and executive committees from the 33 counties that have total or partial registration areas within their counties.

The meeting will be held at the Athletic Club in Columbus at 1 p. m. on Friday. Columbiana county is included.

According to Mr. Bliss, the meeting resulted from his recent visit in many of the districts throughout Ohio. Plans developed by Republican state headquarters for registering potential Republican voters will be discussed by the group.

JORDAN TESTIFIES—George Jordan, former U. S. Air Force Major, was recalled to testify before the House Un-American Activities Committee at the insistence of GOP members. Jordan furnished detailed quantities and times of further shipments of atomic pile materials which he said he knew went either through Great Falls, Montana, Air Base or by other routes to Russia in 1943 and 1944. Jordan previously told the committee how he spotted shipments of secret documents and uranium compounds when he was lend-lease officer at Great Falls.

Uncle Sam's 'Other Air Force' Flies 1000 Planes for Federal Agencies

ATOMIC PATROL: This plane, swooping low over roads surrounding the atomic energy plant at Hanford, Wash., is about to land in front of the automobile to ask where the driver's going.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Uncle Sam has an air force of more than 1000 planes that has nothing to do at all with the armed services.

If you were driving along an open road near an Atomic Energy Commission plant, for instance, one of these planes might swoop down, land in front of you, and ask you to state your business.

If you go hunting, there's a good chance you're being watched from the sky to see if you're violating game laws. And if you happen to have bug trouble in sufficient quantities, one of Uncle Sam's non-military planes might take care of that, too.

Figures on this air fleet, operated by 11 government departments, are revealed for the first time in a study made by "Planes," a magazine of the Aircraft Industries Association. President Truman made the study possible by ordering all agencies to itemize, in their 1951 budget requests, all the airplanes they use. Up to now, nobody really knew.

Commerce and Treasury are the most air-minded federal departments—outside of Defense, of course. Commerce has 109 planes, 92 of them used by CAA and CAB for day-to-day business. The others are used by the Coast and Geodetic Survey to take pictures of the U. S. and Alaska. Treasury's 101 aircraft zoom around the U. S. borders, looking for aliens, and the Coast Guard does a lot of flying to hunt smugglers, in addition to other duty such as rescue work.

Agriculture has 28 planes to spray bugs and another 18 to fly fire fighters into action against forest fires. Department of Interior has 56, including the ones that watch you hunting and fishing, while the AEC has five to keep snoopers away from atomic secrets.

Among the others, there is even a 10-plane fleet for the Tennessee Valley Authority, but away down at the bottom of the list is the State Department. It has only two planes it can call its own.

These are for the air attaches at our embassies in London and Rio de Janeiro. Other American diplomats sometimes can borrow air transportation from the Department of Defense, although Secretary Johnson is making this tougher all the time.

And the Defense Department? It lists 760 planes—not counting the ones that carry guns and bombs.

Minerva Rotary Host To Columbiana Club

COLUMBIANA, March 7—Fifteen members of the Columbiana Rotary Club accompanied Hiram McGrath, past president of the club, to a meeting of the Minerva club last Friday evening, when Mr. McGrath spoke on "Youth."

Mr. McGrath, who served last year as co-chairman with Robert Manchester of Youngstown of the youth committee of Zone 3 of the 229th district of Rotary International, has been made the unanimous choice of the nominating committee for district governor. The election to be held in connection with the district convention at Lakewood, Cleveland, May 21, 22 and 23.

Other nominations may be made from the floor of the convention. On the opening day, Sunday afternoon, May 21, an

Junior High Pupils Prepare For Contest

A preliminary spelling bee is being held at Junior High School today for the seventh and eighth grades. Miss Elizabeth Ward is in charge with Herbert Kelly and Dean Phillips as judges. This is a practice for the official spelling bee to be held later.

A movie, "The Long Road," will be shown Wednesday and Thursday at the school. The film portrays the development of transportation the discovery of the wheel and the use of oil in transportation.

Ray Hertel, president of the Seventh Grade Boys' Club will be the announcer.

The Junior High basketball tournament begins Wednesday afternoon and will continue through the week at the Memorial building.

The school's subscription campaign got off to a successful start in its first three days. Leading salesmen who have earned prizes are Gail Hanna and Billy Spangler both in 8B. The 7C's are the leaders in the home rooms contest, with the 7E's second.

In grades one to six, Mrs. Nellie Horton's second grade is in first place, with Miss Geraldine Floding's sixth grade in second place and Mrs. Helen Hoopes' fifth grade in third place.

The Junior High School passed the $1,000 mark last week in the tax stamp contest. In first place was grade 7C with $277. Following in order were 8B, 8E and 7D.

Marlene Schmidt led the individual collections with $78.10, followed by: Sue Hill, Gail Hanna, Bob Sebo, Kay Paxson, Brooks Espy, Eddie Perkins, Peggy Martin, Patty Rise, Shirley Cosgarea, Martha Brunner, Bobby Hookey, Eleanor Gregory and Wendy Townsend.

Karen Trombitas, with $87.45, led in grades one through six. Other high collectors are Glenn Ritchey, Georgiana Rance, Joan Criss, Lawrence Allison, Virginia Colon, Marilyn Perrine and Bonnie Getz.

Not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking CAMELS

Yes, these were the findings of noted throat specialists after a total of 2,470 weekly examinations of the throats of hundreds of men and women who smoked Camels — and only Camels — for 30 consecutive days.

Lovely young radio songstress and recording star

FRAN WARREN

"SINGING IS VERY EXACTING ON THE THROAT—THE 30-DAY TEST WON ME OVER TO CAMELS FOR MILDNESS AND TASTE!"

CROWNED the "Queen of Song" by the American Academy of Entertainment, pretty Fran Warren has rocketed to the top among the nation's most popular female vocalists. Her velvety voice has put over many of the best-selling records of the year.

MAKE A NOTE... REMEMBER YOUR THROAT!

SECRETARY Agnes Doyle: "Cigarette mildness is important to me. I made the 30-Day Test and found that Camels agree with my throat!"

NEWSCASTER George Hayes: "I can't take chances on throat irritation. I pick my cigarette for mildness—Camel! And Camel has the flavor!"

INFORMATION CLERK Jean Gammon: "My job is answering questions all day. I smoke Camels. The 30-Day Test proved how mild Camels are!"

THE TEST! Smoke only Camels for 30 days. Compare them in your "T-Zone." See if you don't agree Camels are the mildest, best-tasting cigarette!

Behind The Statistics

IT'S A PITY that the reshaping of the British election has consisted of so many statistics. They have made hard reading.

The King's message on Monday gave a clearer picture of the election's importance to both Britain and the United States. In it the Labor government pledged itself to a caretaker policy—no new marches into socialism. Thus, the major issue of the near future seems certain to be whether or not the socialist trend is going to be reversed. It is unlikely that Britain can stay on dead center, where the election deadlock left it.

For more than a generation British Socialists and their brethren in other countries, including the United States, had talked about nationalization as the ultimate solution for all economic problems. But Britain's Socialists, once established in power, learned that nationalization solves no problems. They found themselves in the embarrassing situation of relying on the managers of private enterprise to run nationalized industries. They discovered that Britons as a whole did not share their zeal for nationalization. On the contrary, many British workers had less relish for politicians than they had for the "bosses" replaced by the politicians.

If the next few years of trial and error in Britain force Socialists to trim their sails, the moral for other countries pestered by Socialist reformers will be as profound as the discovery that in Russia the Communist party bosses had no ultimate solution for anything more important than how to keep themselves in power. Their solution for that was a police state. In Britain, where a police state was intolerable, enough free voters went to the polls last Feb. 23 to signify that Socialism was no bargain either.

For Remembrance

THE POEMS of Edgar Lee Masters probably will be listed among the important products of the United States long after the last of its marvelous machines have rusted away. Their author—if his poems live—will be honored for centuries to come.

This will come about through an inversion of prestige that is one of the genuine oddities of civilized living. More often than not, the human beings who are the most successful by contemporary standards become non-entities in historic perspective. The plaudits of the future frequently are reserved for those who were without honor in their time.

Edgar Lee Masters, as it happens, was not entirely without honor in his time; the merit of his poetic thought and expression was widely acclaimed. But he frequently was without funds, and he never had enough funds at any one time to claim that he had been outstandingly successful in the materialistic society which he graced with his unusual gift for thought and expression. He died as he had lived most of his life—without financial resources.

We don't know whether or not this ever bothered him. Perhaps it shouldn't bother any poet. Lack of funds may be the fixed lot of all whose contributions to civilization are for the ages, instead of for their own brief span of life. But it is ironic that the author of a "Spoon River Anthology" shouldn't be at least as secure in his lifetime as the builder of a better mousetrap.

Investigating Cool

INTEREST in the coal industry's latest working agreement with United Mine Workers is shared with the public's lively interest in President Truman's proposed inquiry into the industry's economic troubles.

The In-Betweens

ARE YOU confused? Don't you know which way to turn? Does life have you puzzled, uncertain and doubtful?

Well, cheer up. It isn't your fault. You are just an unfortunate victim of history, a member of what will be known as "the in-between generation."

This is the generation which, when young was taught that it had to do things for itself. But this same generation, now at maturity, finds that machines have been developed to do most of these things for it. So, naturally, it doesn't know what to do with itself.

It is the real lost generation. It no longer trusts itself, and it is too old and wary to put its faith blindly in machines.

I think the generation coming up—or the one after it, perhaps—will be the lucky generation. It will be geared from birth to adjust itself to the machine.

RIGHT NOW the trouble is there are too many machines. Middle-aged people just can't understand and please all the machines that surround them—type-writers, motor cars, electric razors, vacuum cleaners and dishwashers, radios, three-speed phonographs, television sets. And there is also a spreading wilderness of coin-vending machines that will do everything from tell their fortunes to shine their shoes.

All this turmoil will dissolve however, when science perfects a single, all-purpose machine that will do anything and everything you ask it. This magic machine—"little do-it-all"—will be a wedding of the present coin vending machine and the electronic brain.

It will occupy three-fourths of the living room of the house of the future, and a new type of modern people will emerge to use it.

There will no longer be any need to leave the home. In the morning you just tune in the boss on "little do-it-all's" television attachment, and he tells you what he wants done. So you make up a card, put the card and a quarter in the machine, a few gears grind—and out comes your day's work, neatly filed.

You throw your dirty dishes in one end of "little do-it-all," and they come out clean and dry from the other end. But there won't be many dirty dishes, as the machine will serve you food in paper containers. It will also play you a chess game for a dime, give you Bing Crosby or sew a button on your pajamas.

WHAT WILL people of the future be like? Well, they'll have no need to walk, so they'll just sit man's proposed inquiry into the industry's economic troubles.

These are fundamentally the troubles which plague every industry which lacks an outlet for the productivity of its workers. There are more coal mines than can be kept busy year in and year out. The market for coal has been shoved up by the demands of the electrical industry, but there have been no other increases commensurate with the accelerated use of other fuels. High prices and supply failures have driven many former consumers out of the market either wholly or in part. The same things have stimulated mechanization of mining. John L. Lewis, who frequently is pointed to as a cause of the industry's troubles, is both a cause and an effect. That is, he would never have been able to establish himself as a personal czar without the condition which threatened to make coal miners in the United States as economically desperate as their counterparts in Great Britain.

Yet, in his attempts to keep coal miners from becoming second-class economic citizens, Mr. Lewis may have worsened their lot. That should be a prime focus for any official investigation. Particular attention should be given to the possibility that Mr. Lewis, free from all legal restraints except those which might handicap him in the Taft-Hartley Act, has let his vendetta against that one law blind him to everything else. An investigation which skipped that possibility would be a farce. Any investigation by members of the Truman administration which didn't skip that possibility would be a miracle. Mr. Truman himself is one of the figures in the vendetta and will stay that way as long as there's a vote to be made.

In wheelchairs all day in front of "little do-it-all." The only muscles they'll require are a strong right arm to pull nickels, dimes and quarters out of a huge pocket full of coins to keep the machine operating.

Naturally, since everything will be done by television, they'll need double-duty, over-sized eyeballs. Those who can't develop the eyeballs just going to disappear.

If you're sick, why call a doctor? Put your symptoms on a card, and "little do-it-all" will grind out a prescription—and fill it, too. Feel mentally depressed? Just write it down for the machine—he'll punch you out a better answer than Freud.

The danger I see in "little know-it-all" is that some wag may build a sense of humor into him. Any machine that acts as a psychiatrist for people might take to playing pranks to show his steely contempt for soft human beings. Ask him "what shall I do with myself, I feel so useless!" and "little do-it-all" is likely to reply, "jump out the window, pal."

And as you hit the pavement below, the last thing you'll hear is a well-geared laugh from the machine, as it gulps your final quarter.

Sometimes, looking ahead, I don't mind at all being one of the "in-between generation." It is still fun to do a few things for yourself.

That's One Way Of Putting It

Irresponsibility In A Democracy

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON IF THE REPUBLICANS in Congress pass up their opportunity to obtain a full-fledged congressional investigation of the failure of the Department of Justice to gather the facts on the flagrant defiance of a court injunction last week, they are much more weak-kneed as politicians than the country imagine. To check up on the efficiency of the executive departments is the duty of the opposition party in the legislative branch of the government.

It is well-known that the Federal Bureau of Investigation does not enter into enforcement of injunctions or court orders unless explicitly ordered to do so. It is also well known that the FBI is a rather efficient instrument for the detection of law violations and can get testimony and evidence if it really sets out to do the job.

SENATOR TAFT says he sent to the Department of Justice affidavits from individual miners as to how the court injunction was circumvented. Lots of other people sent in evidence and signed their names and addresses. Here is a letter received by this correspondent postmarked Johnstown, Pa., dated Feb. 23rd:

"I am a coal miner who is suffering because of John L. Lewis' arrogance. He is the one who is causing all the trouble with his signals to the miners. After first injunction was issued and miners ordered to go to work, he did not send telegram to all the local unions. But we got word of mouth from one of his gang not to go back to work. We got the second telegram, but since he has been giving so many winks and signals, he has the miners so confused that they lost the meaning of his signals, and so they don't know what to do. Just imagine he sends the telegram to go back to work and before the local hold the meeting to pass on it his henchmen will go among miners and tell them to vote not to accept the telegram which means not to go to work. Then they blame the miners for this action. He is not for the miners. He is for himself and his gang and he should pay for the misery he caused the miners.

"Yours,

"A Miner.

"P. S.—Sorry for not signing my name—you know what would happen to me."

From Our Readers

Backs Public Health Program Editor, Salem News:

Recently, it has come to the attention of this Health Department that certain local agencies and individuals in the community have, either maliciously or through ignorance of the true facts, attempted to create the impression in the community that the practice of public health is related to socialized medicine. This has, in certain cases, been from a selfish motive; the motive in the other cases remains questionable.

Public health is one of the specialized branches of medicine and, as such, constitutes a specialty group in the American Medical Association. It has, as one of its principle aims, sound economically and locally administered health units. It should represent the efforts of a community to obtain, for itself, better and healthier surroundings and citizens. This program should be instituted by the community, controlled by the community and developed by the community.

As you know, socialized medicine in itself does not necessarily mean a different kind of medicine, but it does mean a difference in the administration of medical practice which may seriously impair the stability of the democratic principle as it applies to medicine. The physicians in public health are fighting harder in most respects for the maintenance of "home-rule" in medicine than any other group.

To cast doubt or suspicion on your own public health service endangers one of the most reliable and effective barriers we have against socialized medicine.

ROBERT M. DUNLAP, M.D., County Health Commissioner.

Lauds Greenford Firemen Editor, Salem News: I have been a resident of Greenford for many, many years. We are very proud of our Volunteer Fire Department. It does not matter when nor where they are called to help put out a fire, they are up and going very quickly. In the fire on Millville Hill Saturday morning our fire department was called. They went at once and helped all they could.

When the story came out in The Salem News Saturday, Greenford Fire Department was not even mentioned. I believe in giving credit where credit is due. I do not believe on one occasion that Greenford Fire Department has ever had any credit in your paper when they worked with the Salem department.

A NEWS SUBSCRIBER.

Editor's Note: Neither the state highway patrol or the Salem firemen made mention in reporting news of the accident that the Greenford department was at the scene. The Salem News has, in the past, always credited the Greenford firemen for their very efficient work and will continue to do so. The Salem News editorial room (4601) is as near as your telephone.

THIS IS SUPPOSED to be Free America and we tell the Russians every day how much freedom is enjoyed. Tales of violence and intimidation at the mines are regularly reported in the press.

Even though it is a violation of the injunction for two or more persons to conspire together to refrain from back to work as ordered, there have been instances in which entire local unions have met and decided not to obey the injunction. Surely the Department of Justice could last week have read the newspapers and found out where the meetings were held and gotten evidence of the manner in which the court injunction was flouted.

Testimony before the senate judiciary committee two weeks ago given by Jesse V. Sullivan, secretary of the West Virginia Coal Association, says:

"In the single year of 1949 there were 27 weeks when Lewis ordered the miners to cease work entirely, work three days or work two days per week. The miners responded 27 times to the will of Lewis. In recent days when the court ordered Mr. Lewis to have his miners resume work, it seems strange that they suddenly failed to respond to his orders, when previously under prior orders some 27 times they responded to his orders with obedience and celerity."

If the decision by Judge Keech that no evidence was presented to him showing collusion to violate the injunction is not reversed by the Supreme Court—and it may be dismissed as a "moot" case because the strike is settled—it means that no union hereafter can be held responsible for the acts of members engaging in wildcat strikes. It means that no union can be held responsible now for the signature of its officers on a labor-management contract. Irresponsibility in a democracy and contempt for court orders can lead only to lawlessness.

If War Comes

By JAMES MARLOW

Declaration By Congress Might Be Too Late

HERE'S one to think about. This country and Russia are spending billions on arms and bombmaking. So far as can be seen, they'll continue doing that.

In time both countries may have bombs enough to wipe out whole cities, one bomb to a city. Scientists say a hydrogen bomb can do just that. If there's a war, the one which attacks first will have a big advantage.

For instance, suppose Russia in a sneak attack was able in one night to wipe out Washington, New York, Chicago and Detroit. After that our chances of winning the war, or even waging war very long, might not be so good.

True, our bombers, if scattered around, might try to attack in turn. But, having started the war, Russia would be ready for that.

Could Russia tee off on us suddenly without a formal declaration of war, which would be enough warning to us? Sure. The Russians could get going on an order from above, from Joseph Stalin and his group.

But could the Russians actually get their whole war machine going without our knowledge? Maybe so, maybe not. No one can answer that now.

WE WEREN'T PREPARED for the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. And this time, because of the hydrogen bomb, we'd be in a sad fix if our spy system failed.

But there's the problem of how the United States would go to war.

Under the Constitution, only Congress can declare war. But, if we reached a point where Congress gathered to declare war, the Russians would have plenty of warning and time to attack first.

In the past this arrangement—no war unless declared by the people's representatives in Congress—has worked all right. It was the democratic way, the backbone of this country's way of life.

It saved the people from the danger of possible sudden action by one man, the President, who otherwise might have been able to put the people into a war they didn't want.

But times have changed, as this story has tried to point out, because of the advantage that would go to the one who attacked first with hydrogen bombs.

Just because times have changed, this same democratic process, the wide open declaration of war by Congress, might in the next war mean the end of the republic by giving the enemy a chance to attack first.

What could be done to be sure we weren't attacked first? As commander-in-chief of the armed forces the President, if he thought the danger great enough, might try to save the country by ordering our bombers to start the war and attack Russia without waiting for congressional action. Yet, if he did so, he might be impeached by Congress. Whether that happened, of course, would depend upon what Congress and the people thought after the war started.

ON THE OTHER HAND: Suppose he knew an attack was coming, but through fear of impeachment, let it come, preferring to let Congress go through the comparatively slow and public process of declaring war.

In a case like that, it's possible he might be impeached for failing to take the necessary steps—attacking first—to save the nation, if any congressmen were left alive after the enemy attacked here.

If you think these questions are far-fetched, Senator McMahon, Connecticut Democrat, made a Senate speech in which, speaking of future bombs, he said:

"I need not tell you that these weapons impair in a most serious way the constitutional power of Congress to declare war. As a democracy, we are incapable of launching the first surprise blow. It seems possible that this very democratic process, slow and wide open to the world, could mean an end to the republic since it would give an enemy more time to attack first."

McMahon is head of Congress' Atomic Committee.

Shingles In Elderly People Serious

SHINGLES, or herpes zoster, is a painful condition resulting from the attack of a virus on the nervous system. Pain on one side of the body is generally the first symptom.

Tingling or other peculiar sensations are frequent. It is common around the chest, the hips, the abdomen and sometimes the face.

After a few days of these sensations, blisters appear on the skin. However, it is really not correct to speak of herpes as a skin disease. When several days have passed the blisters burst and dry up, finally disappearing altogether. In young and middle-aged people, this is about all there is to it, but in older people neuralgic pains often last for a long time.

Herpes may come with or immediately after acute infections like pneumonia or meningitis; it can come in epidemics or without any cause which can be identified. It is believed to be due to a tiny, probably living, substance called a virus.

There seems to be some relation between herpes and chickenpox. Small epidemics of herpes have arisen at the same time as epidemics of chickenpox. Occasionally a person will develop chickenpox from contact with a patient with shingles. The opposite has also been reported.

A great many different kinds of treatment have been used for shingles. Soothing lotions or other preparations help a little. Recently X-rays have been used with success—at least in some cases. Herpes of the forehead is dangerous because it can move down into the eyes.

Herpes in elderly people is often a particularly serious thing because it hangs on so long. One cannot help but be distressed about this and hope that some better and quicker method of cure and relief will not be long delayed. There is a real possibility that aureomycin or one of the other newer antibiotics will prove of real treatment value.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

THE BRITISH Labor Party regrets it will not be able to carry out its campaign promises... if the nation is to get into any further difficulties it will have to be without the assistance of the government.

Next they were going to nationalize meat... later they were going to try to find some.

Many here believed you would have to nationalize coal, when it appeared all attempts to rationalize it had failed.

But it was kind of interesting to hear the UMW officers eagerly protesting they don't have any control over the miners... Now if they will just step aside we'll see if we can get some coal mines.

I always like the idea of running the seizure flag up over a coal tippie... it's not as dramatic as Iwo Jima but it makes a nice picture of futility.

Takes you right back to the days when Biddle was gallantly leading his forces through the aisles of Montgomery Ward... what a victory that was!

How could the Russians ever hope to beat a government that can capture a coal mine or a department store any old day in the week?

Fight Colony's Club Charter

Lausche Says Joint Not 'Charitable'

COLUMBUS, March 7—(AP)—Operators of the Colony Club, where state liquor enforcement agents seized 45 slot machines, will be ordered to show in court why they are entitled to a state charter.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche announced the move yesterday. He told Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy to bring quo warranto proceedings against the club—first legal step in removal of a charter.

Incorporation papers show the club was formed June 6, 1949, "for the purpose and purposes of providing for and establishing of funds for charitable distribution to causes beneficial to the citizenry of the village of Chesapeake, O., and the rural areas lying within the Township of Union, county of Lawrence and all other purposes incidental thereto."

But the governor said: "To me, it is clearly established that the Colony Club is not a charitable or benevolent institution."

Duffy said he would bring the action in the Ohio Supreme Court, and the governor promised him any funds he needs to "completely reveal the illegal operations of the club."

Duffy said he would send investigators into Lawrence county shortly.

"Once quo warranto proceedings are filed," he said, "we will proceed to take depositions."

Operators of the club and their counsel would not comment immediately on the governor's move. Willard P. Rollyson of Huntington, W. Va., and Curtis Wilson and Thomas Fuller of Chesapeake are listed as the incorporators.

Ex-Convict Traced To Bus For St. Louis

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., March 7—(AP)—Columbus, O., detectives tried to pick up the trail here today of an ex-convict who boasted "I'll not be taken alive this time" after a night of crime. They were informed that Charles Frazier, 27, went to Middleport, O., and Huntington after two auto thefts, two holdups, and abduction in Columbus and announced his intentions to take a bus for St. Louis, Mo.

Frazier and James Sherman Pursley, 34, fugitive from the London, O., Prison Farm, have been identified in Saturday night's auto thefts and robberies, police said.

Det. L. Howard T. Newman of Huntington said Henry Butcher, 32, Middleport, O., told police Frazier called at his home, drove him to Pt. Pleasant where he parked the car, and they then took a bus to Huntington.

According to Butcher Frazier suggested they both go to St. Louis by bus, with Frazier financing the trip. Butcher said they became separated while waiting for the bus, which Frazier apparently boarded.

When Butcher was picked up on a vagrancy charge he had a ticket to St. Louis in his pocket, Det. Newman said.

Doctors Named To Study A, H-Bomb Ills

COLUMBUS, March 7—(AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche today named the Ohioans who will direct instruction for treatment of "A" and "H" bomb injuries in event of attack.

Nominees—appointed at the request of the national security resources board—are:

Dr. Edgar F. McNamee of Cleveland, representing the Ohio State Medical Association; Dr. William C. Myers, associate professor of medicine at Ohio State University; Dr. Frank Dutra, college of medicine at the University of Cincinnati; and Dr. T. F. Mancuso, chief of the division of industrial hygiene in the State Health Department.

The governor said a training course for the four nominees and a fifth to be named from Western Reserve University faculty will be held in Western Reserve beginning April 3.

Board Approves Rooms For Lisbon Students

LISBON, March 6—Supt. of Schools Vaughn J. Ullman said today that several local rooms have been approved as classrooms for the students of the burned-out McKinley grade school.

Ullman and a committee of teachers made an inspection tour of the rooms offered Saturday afternoon. He said he will announce the rooms selected later in the week.

School will not resume for the McKinley students until next week. Books and desks have been ordered by the board of education.

Greeted By Senator, Cab Driver

16-Year-Old Kaarina, Refugee From Finland, Thrilled In U.S.

WASHINGTON, March 7—(AP)—An old-fashioned little girl from Finland left for Ohio last night to learn about the United States and start training for an artist's career.

The girl is Kaarina Vanninen, 16, a charming youngster who greets her elders with a shy curtsy, and is thrilled with all she has seen in her first four days on American soil.

A Girl Scout troop at Middletown, Ohio, has made Kaarina its own special "project."

The Ohio girls, touched by the accounts of bitter tragedies young Kaarina has suffered, raised the money to bring her to this country for a four-year high school course which she hopes will include a chance to study art.

She already has started sketching the things that have caught her fancy on the American scene. Kaarina visited Washington for an afternoon of sight seeing on the way to Ohio, and had lunch with Senator Taft (R-Ohio).

The Senator located a Finnish-speaking taxi driver who drove the young visitor about the city and gave her a chatty glimpse of the city's famed landmarks. Later she paid a courtesy call on K. T. Jutila, minister from Finland, at the legation before heading for the railway station.

She is due in Cincinnati this morning. Someone representing the Middletown Scouts will meet her, and drive her to her new home with the Scouts' leader, Mrs. Estill Marshall, a farm housewife.

Through her interpreter—Kaarina's English vocabulary is about a dozen words—she told reporters she can hardly wait to meet the girls who befriended her.

They sent her food and money while she was recovering from two years of hardship in refugee camps, and raised the money to pay her fare to Middletown.

The Russians seized the area on Lake Ladoga where her family's farm was located and her father, a captain in the Finnish Navy, was killed in 1944. Refugee camps were her home, then, till her mother and seven brothers and sisters found a new farm home. But there was little money for the children's schooling.

Kaarina is a sturdy youngster now, and still very much a little girl. She told the interpreter she isn't homesick, but feels "a little strange" when she can't understand English-speaking crowds about her.

American food is pretty rich and spicy for her taste, trained to a simple diet that features dairy products and starchy foods. She finds the desserts sweeter than she likes, but figures a few more meals will fix that.

At lunch, Senator Taft noted her fondness for coffee and mentioned he has an aunt whose family drinks a lot of coffee and even the family dog drinks it. She replied soberly that many dogs in Finland are coffee lovers. Taft gave up some conflicting dates to lunch with her, and confided later that he was glad he did because "she's such an engaging child." A serious listener, she breaks into a surprising grin that puts dimples in her cheeks.

MAN'S FRIEND. This six-year-old black dog named "Africa" got a happy homecoming greeting from his master, Robert Solari, 3, at Newark, N. J., after he proved to a judge that he's a friendly pooch. Accused of biting four people, Africa sat quietly while his case was heard, then entered his plea by placing a friendly paw on the magistrate's lap. Africa won't be impounded for observation, the magistrate ruled, but he must be on leash on the street. Mrs. Solari said he wouldn't bite anyone unless provoked.

Civil War Battlegrounds Revisited---

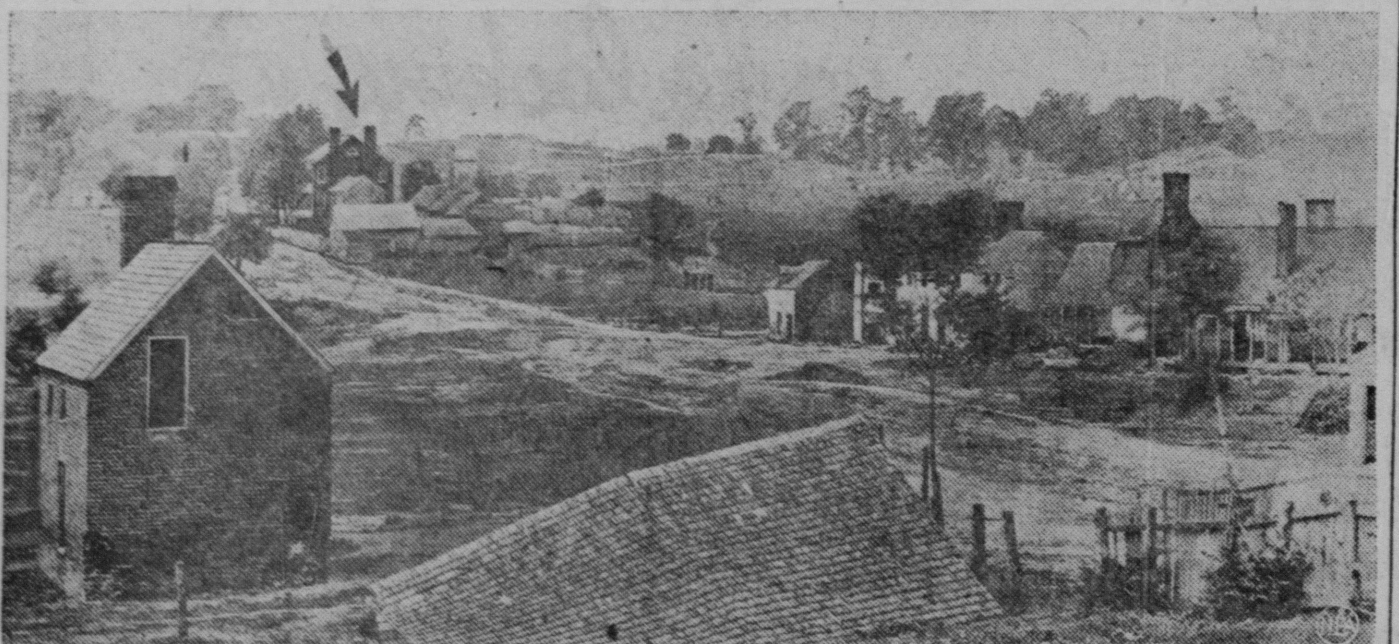

Recently the Department of Defense sent a team of four photographers to visit famous landmarks of the Civil War and to take pictures of the exact scenes which famed photographer Matthew Brady had taken 85 years before. The result was a remarkable collection of present-day photographs matching exactly the locations of the original Brady pictures, which live in history books. Below are two examples of the comparison.

This is Matthew Brady's shot of the Bridge over Antietam Creek, near Sharpsburg, Md. . . .

... and here is the same scene today, taken by Department of Defense photographers.

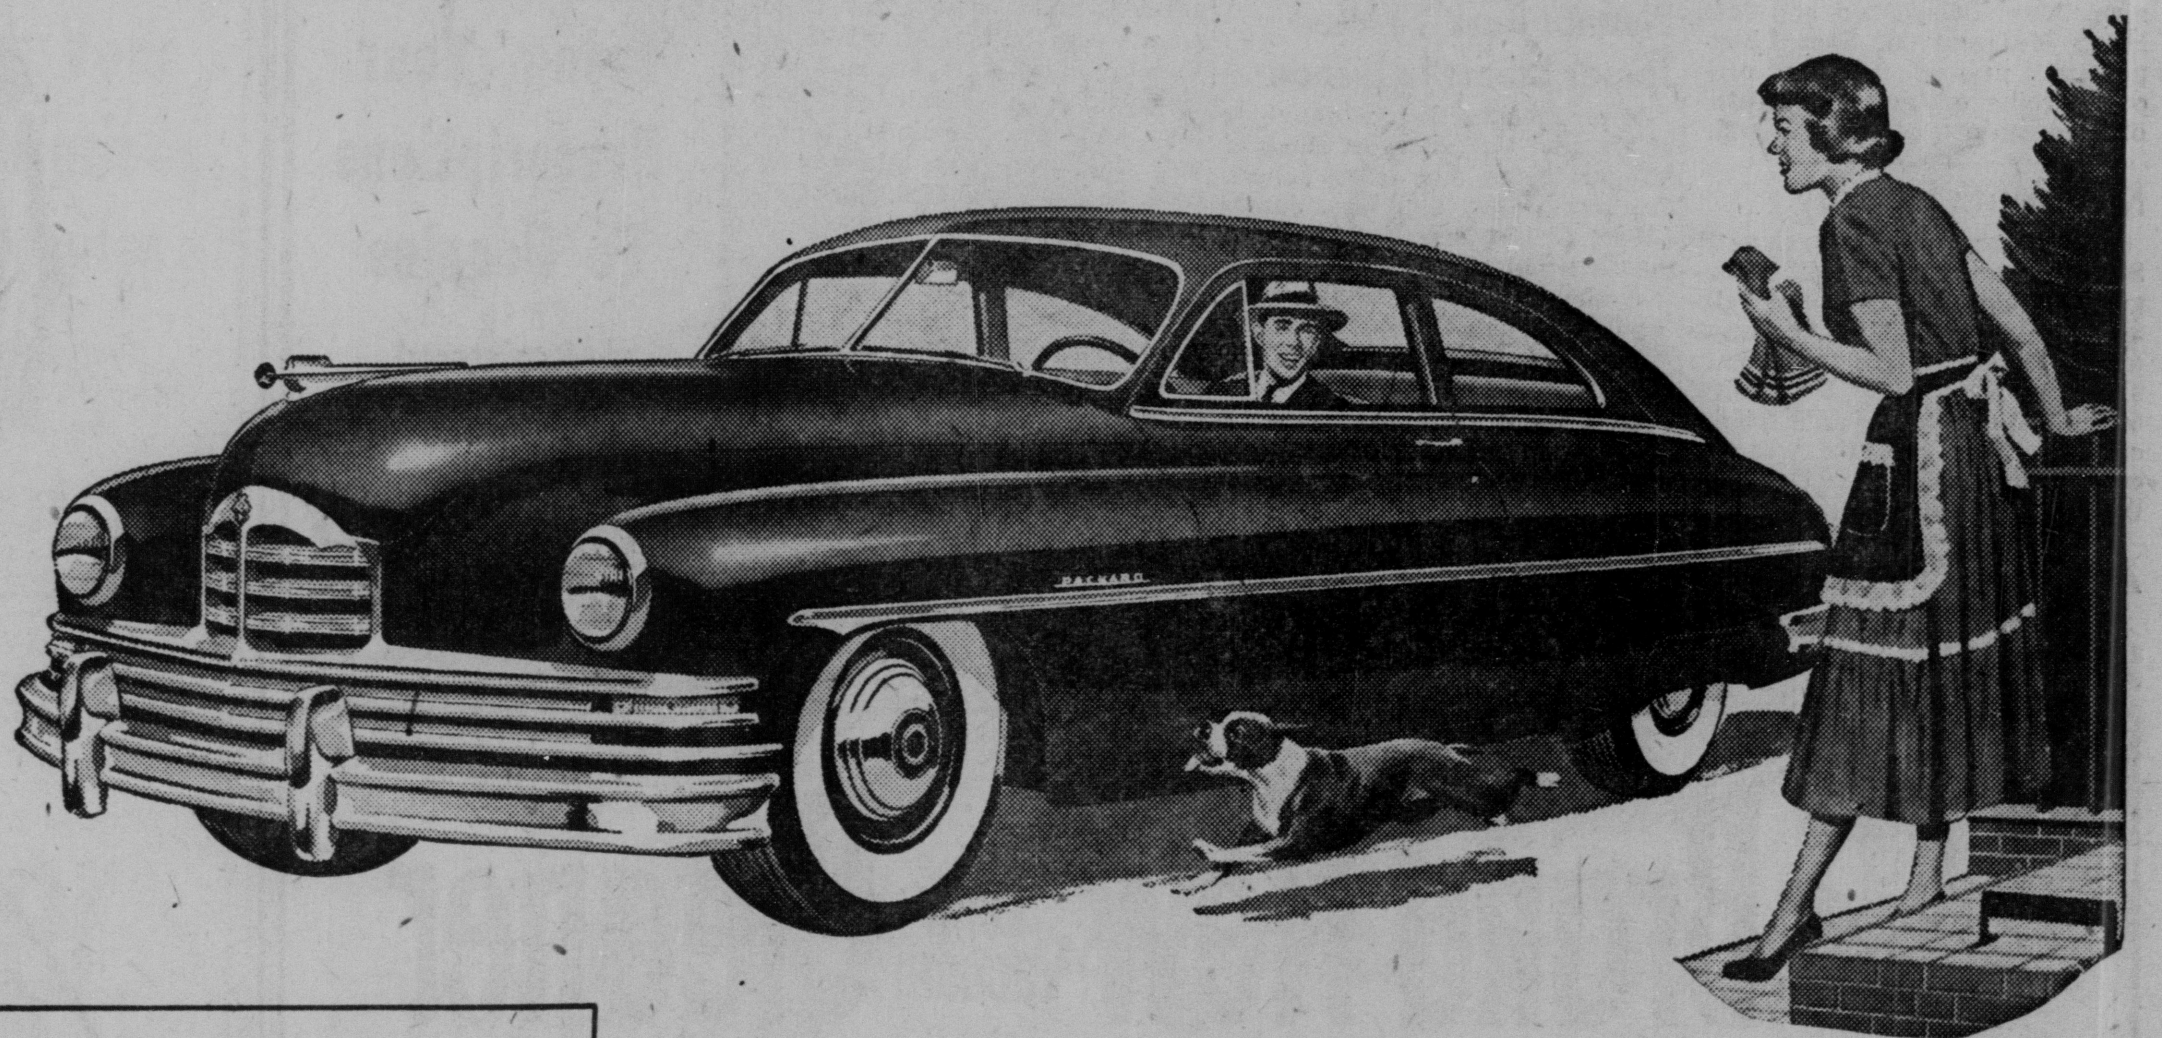

This was Fredericksburg, Va., as it looked during the Civil War. Note arrow . . .

Music Festival, Planned Here In April, Will Benefit Groups

SALEM is to have a music festival at 8 p. m. Monday and Tuesday, April 24 and 25, in the High School auditorium. Mrs. Anthony Woyna, festival chairman and producer, announced today.

City-wide in scope, the colorful event is expected to cover all phases of Salem's musical life. First half of the program will include serious vocal and instrumental selections, while the second half will be devoted to lighter and gayer music with dance novelties. Many of Salem's foreign-born groups will sing folk songs in native costume.

Two pianos will be purchased from the proceeds—one, a concert grand, for the stage at the High School, and the other one will be used in the club room of the Memorial building.

The piano now in the High School will be moved to the public library assembly room, thus each music center will have a piano adequate to the demand made upon it.

"At the present time and for many years past, there has not been one instrument capable of meeting the talent demand of Salem," according to the festival chairman.

Other officials of this project are: Secretary, Mrs. Eric Silver; treasurer, Thomas Crothers; stage production, Tom Rowlands; promotion manager, John Romaine; industrial contacts, Melvin York; piano purchase, Nelson Bailey.

Also working with these officials are Mrs. Curtis Vaughan, Mrs. Melvin York, Mrs. Vesta King, Mrs. Don Harrison, Mrs. Fred Switzer, Jr., Mrs. Walter Hofmeister, Miss Edith Forbes, Eric Silver, Anthony Wonia, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wright, Mrs. Thomas Crothers and Mrs. John Romaine.

State Vice Chairman To Talk To GOP Club

Mrs. Florence G. Morris of Columbus will be the main speaker at a dinner meeting sponsored by the Salem Republican Women's Club at 6:30 p. m., Thursday, March 16, in the Memorial building.

Mrs. Morris, vice chairman of the Republican state, central and executive committee, will be accompanied here by Mrs. Betty Linnard of Belmont County. She will speak on "Precinct Organization."

The meeting is for all Republican women in the county. Mrs. Lozier Caplan, president of the Salem club, Mrs. T. Emerson Smith and Mrs. J. W. Asty are in charge of arrangements. Reservations for the dinner may be made after Thursday by calling 4949.

Deanery Will Be Guest Of Women Of St. Paul's

Mrs. Edwin Probert will be hostess of the social committee of St. Paul's Catholic Church parish for a meeting of the East Liverpool deanery of the National Council of Catholic Women at 2 p. m. Saturday in the K. of C. hall.

Mrs. Adam Tecca of East Liverpool, who is chairman, Mrs. Herman Schlueter of East Palestine, Mrs. Marguerite Burns and Mrs. Freeman Strabley of Salineville and Miss Ann Johnston, Miss Helen Auld and Mrs. Hugh McTeague of East Liverpool will present a slate of officers for the ensuing year. Catholic women are asked to attend.

Marjorie Forney To Wed Otto Crider Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Forney of S. Broadway announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Marjorie, to Otto Crider, son of Mrs. Myrtle Green of R. D. 4, Salem, and William Crider of Washingtonville.

The couple have planned their marriage for 7 p. m. Saturday at Woodworth. Rev. Clyde Mulligan will officiate.

The future bride is employed at Young's Market. Her fiancé is employed by the Columbiana Foundry Co. as a foreman.

Eastern Star Fetes 24 Past Officers

Eighteen past matrons and six past patrons of Salem chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, were honored at a meeting Monday evening in the Masonic temple.

Mrs. Carrie B. Turner, first worthy matron, was given special recognition. She received a corsage of yellow roses, while each of the other honor guests was presented one yellow rose. Mrs. Arthur S. Johnston made the presentation.

Mrs. Turner, who has been a resident of Salem for many years, left today for Columbus, where she will make her home with her cousin, Miss Pauline Kennett.

While the flowers were distributed, Mrs. Herbert Yengling sang, "Love Sends A Little Gift of Roses." Mrs. Charles Snelvel was the accompanist.

Mrs. J. Elmer Johnson, Mrs. Wilmer Smith and Mrs. Esther Eells, past matrons of other chapters, also received a rose.

Lunch was served in the dining room. The table at which the honor guests were seated was charmingly appointed in a blue and gold theme. Vocal and instrumental recordings of Salem artists were played at the social hour. A special meeting of the chapter is set for March 20. There were visitors from Canton, Leontonia and Lisbon.

Personal Notes

Road Program Seen Stabilizer

Depression Can Be Averted, Builders Told

CINCINNATI, March 7—(AP)—A multi-billion dollar construction program to stabilize employment and also compensate for the wartime deterioration of roads and streets was urged today at the 47th annual meeting of the American Roadbuilders Association.

R. K. Stiles of Aurora, Ill., president of the Construction Industry Manufacturers Association, declared "there can be no possible excuse for depression or recession in the face of the patent need for more and better highways."

Stiles estimated that deficiencies in road construction now amount to between $40,000,000,000 and $60,000,000,000.

"To avert recurrence of some of the controversial public works which resulted from our unplanned plunge into the depression of the 30's we must proceed at once," he said, "to line up the largest highway construction program in history. From such a program we can obtain tangible and lasting benefits for our national economy."

Stiles asserted that every dollar spent on highway development results in three dollars worth of business.

"Our construction and improvement work on highways, which need widening and straightening even more than they do resurfacing, still is falling behind the nation's increase in motor vehicle use," Stiles said. "Last year we spent a billion and three-quarter dollars, but in terms of 1939 values, we obtained only about half that much worth of highways."

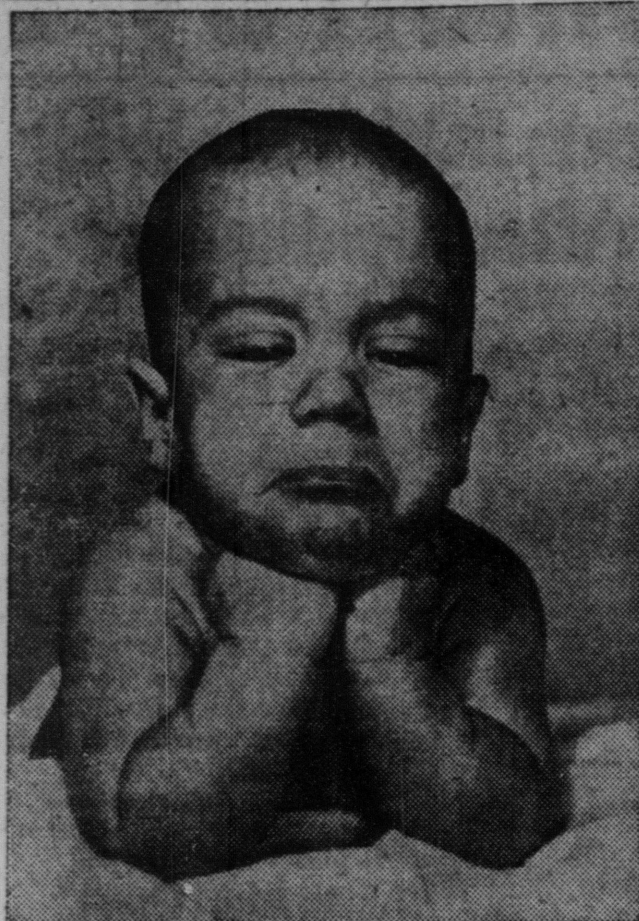

"It is essential that we raise our sights considerably if we are to have roads commensurate with today's traffic demands."

The four-day convention of the Roadbuilders Association is expected to draw an attendance of 1,500 construction industry leaders.

Tito Sure Bet In Election

No Opposition Seen In Sunday Voting

BELGRADE, March 7—(AP)—Guess who will win Yugoslavia's first general elections in five years?

The answer is simple: Marshal Josip Broz Tito and his Communist-dominated "People's Front" party, of course. Not since Man O'War pounded down the stretch in 1920 has there been a surer bet.

And the reason is equally simple. There's no competition for Tito and his party in a country which once had as many parties as it now has republics.

Although Yugoslavia's new election laws permit anyone who can collect 100 signatures to become a candidate for parliament, there has been no sign as yet of any opposition emerging to challenge those who have the blessing of the "People's Front."

The elections themselves on March 26, a Sunday as usual, are sure to be a shoo-in for Tito and his supporters.

Under the rules any person, male or female, over the age of 18 has the right to vote. The teenagers fought in the hills and in the woods during World War II and Yugoslavia decided that if they were old enough to fight they also were old enough to vote.

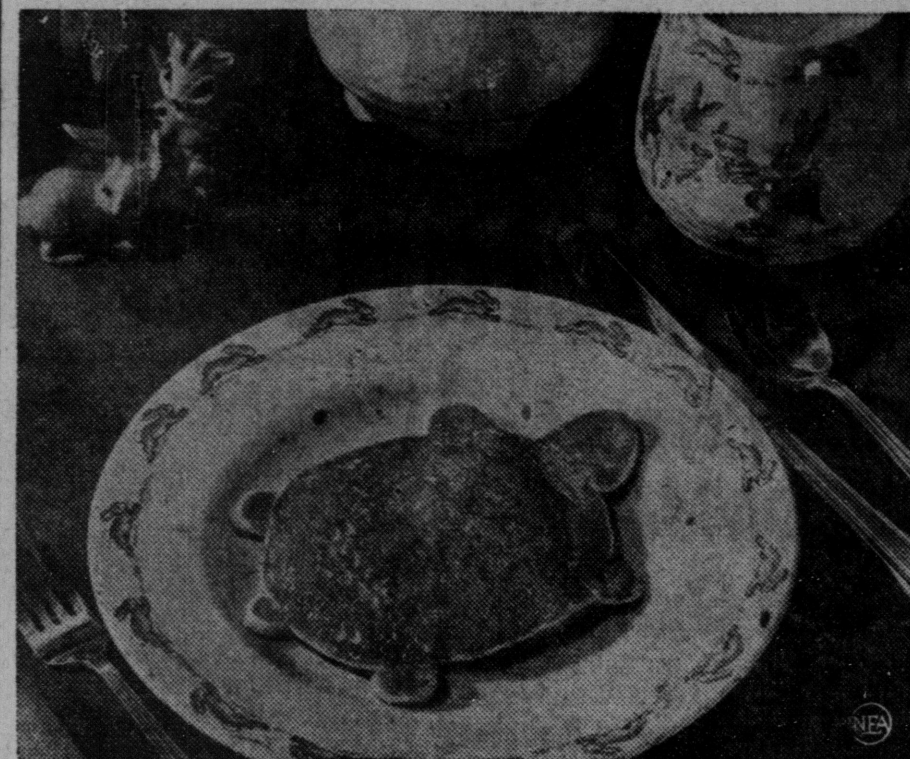

The voters will choose a total of 405 members of the lower house of Parliament and 215 of the upper house, picking them from their own district. Roughly the two houses compare with the House of Representatives and the Senate in the United States.

There are no literacy requirements. A voter doesn't have to know how to read or write. All he has to do is to make up his mind for or against and in this election that shouldn't be difficult.

The regulations provide that the voter, upon entering the balloting room, is given a small rubber ball. He drops this into a cushioned box for the candidate of his choice—or in an opposition box. He or she is required to plunge a closed hand into all the boxes and then—at the end of the line—to display an unclenched fist to show the ballot has been cast.

At day's end the rubber balls are counted to determine the margin of victory. Best guess here is that it will be about 97 or 98 per cent in favor of the People's government.

SPECIAL FOR MARCH—Pancakes in turtle shape.

The Cookbook

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Shape Pancakes Into Turtles

PANCAKES for March breakfast, of course. But not just the same old shape. Try making them in the shape of turtles. Watch them disappear.

Here's a tested recipe for the breakfast surprise:

Turtle Pancakes
(Makes about 20 medium-sized cakes)

Two cups all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 3 tablespoons sugar, ¾ teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, well beaten, ¼ cup vinegar, 1½ cups sweet milk, ¼ cup shortening.

Sift some flour onto a piece of waxed paper, measure 2 cups. Sift with soda, sugar, and salt into large mixing bowl. Mix together eggs, vinegar, milk and shortening. Add to dry ingredients and stir only until smooth. Pour batter from tip of large spoon or from pitcher onto hot frying pan or griddle. Drop bits of batter from tip of spoon to make head, feet and tail of turtle. When underside is browned and before bubbles burst on top, turn and brown second side.

Cheese waffles, according to Successful Farming, put that zest into breakfast that sends the family off to work or school well fortified.

Cheese Waffles
(Makes three 9-inch square waffles)

Beat 2 egg yolks until light and foamy. Blend in 1¼ cups of milk and 6 tablespoons of melted butter. Sift together 2 cups of sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons of baking powder and ¼ teaspoon of salt. Add the dry ingredients to the egg mixture. Beat until smooth and creamy.

Beat 2 egg whites until stiff

Rhodes Urges Ohio Crime Commission

COLUMBUS, March 7—(AP)—Organized crime and "hoodlum elements" pose the most pertinent problems facing some Ohio cities, Mayor James A. Rhodes of Columbus said last night in a statement.

The mayor, who is a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, said he would ask an Ohio crime commission be created, should he become Ohio's next governor.

Kiwanis To Hear Talk On Social Security

William W. Wood of the Social Security Administration field office in Youngstown, will be the speaker at the Kiwanis Club meeting Thursday noon at the Memorial building. He will speak on Social Security as one of the foremost problems of the U. S. government.

Arranging the program is a committee composed of James Giffin, Harold Wykoff, Walter Gray and Russell Limestahl.

Do You Really Want to Take Off That Ugly Fat?

Recently there have been a number of new reducing preparations on the market, some of them based on the diet and vitamin "plan." It is obvious that vitamins will not reduce the body weight, so one must depend on diet to reduce. But it is also obvious that one cannot go on a strenuous diet over a protracted period, and any weight lost will be restored if the former eating habits are gone back to.

So what to do? Well, here is a tip to you "overweight gals" who want to fight "the Battle of the Bulges" in a different way. Ask any well stocked Ohio druggist for four ounces of Renel. Mix with 12 ounces of grapefruit juice and take two tablespoons twice a day.

This preparation contains nothing harmful and the makers agree to refund your money on the very first bottle if it does not show you the way to lose ugly fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves. Renel is low in cost and is not based on the diet and vitamin "plan." You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Renel.

At The Theaters

ELIZABETH PATTERSON, David Brian and Claude Jarman, Jr., plan a course of action in "Intruder in the Dust" at the State Theater Wednesday and Thursday.

Against the sinister background of the Far East, two Americans try to smuggle rubber to the States although faced with capture by the Japanese. Spencer Tracy and James Stewart have the leading roles in the adventure film, "Malaya," at the State Theater tonight.

"Intruder in the Dust" concerns the attempt of a young boy (Claude Jarman, Jr.), a young attorney (David Brian) and an 80-year-old woman (Elizabeth Patterson) to save a Negro farmer (Juano Hernandez) from a false murder charge. This tensely realistic hit is on the State's screen Wednesday and Thursday.

Friday and Saturday at the State, "Dancing in the Dark" combines a sense of humor about the movie business with an appealing story about a faded movie star who shines again through his daughter's eyes. Betsy Drake, William Powell and Mark Stevens are the stars.

At the Grand Friday and Saturday Jim Bannon is seen as Red

Ryder with Little Brown Jug as Little Beaver and Lou Nova as a fighter in the action-packed western, "Cowboy and the Prizefighter."

The second hit, "Trail of the Yukon," revolves about a bank holdup and the work of a Royal Northwest Mounted Police officer and a white Shepherd dog in bringing the criminals to justice. Chapter 10 of the serial, "The Adventures of Sir Galahad," is also on the bill.

STROUSS-HIRSHBERG'S OF SALEM

Salem Crushed By Youngstown Rayen 71-55 To Fall From Tourney; Victims Of Hot Shooting Exhibition By Tigers

Winners Mesh 38.8 Percent Of Shots; Quakers Divide Scoring In Loose Ball Game

By BOB DIXON
News Sports Editor

There wasn't a team in the NEO district tournament that could have beaten the Youngstown Rayen Tigers Monday night. Evidence of that opinion can be found by studying the shooting mark hung up by the Youngstown city champs last night as they soundly thumped the Salem High Quakers 71-55 in the second round of the tourney at the South fieldhouse.

The Tigers, clicking on all five cylinders, rapped the nets for 29 baskets out of 75 shots at the hoop for an impressive 38.8 percent mark. In addition to their torrid shooting, they displayed beautiful rebounding control and showed a terrific amount of foot speed.

The Quakers, although having a respectable night from the floor, also couldn't stay with the Tigers after the first quarter and fell steadily behind. Thus, they ended the season with a record of 11 wins and eight losses.

Rayen, of course, moves on to the semi-finals of the tournament where they will meet the Warren Harding High Black Rayen dump in nine straight points, featuring two pretty set shots by Graves. The Quakers finished the period with Coy and Theiss each hitting from in close to close the gap to two points.

After playing evenly for more than half the second quarter, Rayen began to pick up steam. With Burney blasting for two layups, Rayen rolled from a 24-22 lead to 32-22 before Salem could score. The half ended 34-24 and the die was cast.

The Tigers continued to roll in the third period, caging 16 points and, at one point taking a 16-point lead. Salem closed it to 50-38 by the end of the period.

Trailing by 10 points, with five minutes to play in the tilt, the Quakers lost Callahan when he committed his fifth foul. That left a hole in the defense that couldn't be plugged. In two and a half minutes, Rayen had shot out to 16 points again and both coaches called in the reserves.

It was the highest point total run up on Salem all year. Rayen's performance definitely tabbed them as favorites in the top bracket of the tourney. Their tussles with Warren and, probably, Canton McKinley, are looked forward to with eagerness.

As for the Quakers, they'll all be back again next season, with the exception of Senior George Reash. The added growth and experience should make them a powerful ball club next winter.

Panthers Thursday night. Warren squeaked through a close tilt with Minerva, winning 49-48 in the last minute of play. Canton McKinley had an easy time beating Youngstown Chaney in the finale, 52-23.

The largest crowd of the tournament, 2,307 paid, marvelled Monday at the expert shooting of the Rayenites. During the first half of play, the winners hit 42 percent of their shots and left the floor ahead 34-24. They piled in 16 and 21 in the third and fourth periods, with their reserves finishing up.

Rayen controlled both backboards Monday, mainly through the efforts of tall Cal Douglas, who is a rough customer under the backboard. Their fast break was effective, particularly when speedy Bill "Boots" Burney had the leather. He scooted through the Quaker defense several times for solo buckets.

Rayen had a clear edge over Salem in speed, passing and rebounding, in addition to shooting. There wasn't much the Quakers could do, except fight back. That they did, particularly in the third quarter when, with a 16 point deficit facing them, they courageously turned on the steam to narrow the gap to eight points.

That was the closest they came to catching the red-hot Tigers, but they suffered little disgrace in losing. Rayen was rough. Bill Raiger led the Rayen crew in scoring, with 17 counters, despite his meek appearance. Burney and Douglas each pitched in 14, while Bob Graves got 12 and Bob Wise notched 10.

Salem had a well-rounded scoring column, too. Bobby Coy, who played a beautiful game, carded 12 and Don Abrams and Bob Theiss each got 11. Jim Callahan pitched in 10 points.

Coy, who tired rapidly in the first quarter and had to be rested, collaborated with Callahan at the pivot spot and each threw in a few beauties. Abrams and Theiss did most of their scoring from more distant ranges. George Reash, although caging only three points, played a hard defensive game and left the floor late in the game, utterly spent. He had spent most of the night trying to keep up with Burney.

There was nothing basically wrong with Salem's play—it was simply a case of too much Rayen. Indeed, the game they played last night would have won on most occasions.

For the first four minutes of the tilt, it looked as though the fans were to be in for one of those nerve-racking see-saw things. Theiss, Callahan and Abrams hit baskets as the Quakers battled back and forth with the Tigers, trading the lead. After running their lead to 11-8, Salem ran out of gas and watched

Cage Warfare Is Accelerated

Heavy Action Slated For Tourneys Tonight

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, March 7—(AP)—Business picks up a bit tonight in Ohio's high school basketball warfare, after a lean 12-game program last night.

The last of the sectionals were erased last night at Zanesville as Dresden whipped Warsaw, 77-64, and Philo defeated New Concord, 57-48, with the winners moving into this week's district play at Zanesville against New Matamoras and Belpre from the Marietta sectional.

Outstanding Class A result was at Cincinnati, where Purcell, third-ranking team in the final Association Press poll ran wild over Cincinnati Hughes, 51-23, for its 21st victory in 22 starts.

In Class B at Athens, Middleport continued to be a sensation. The club lost 15 in a row during the regular season, but Coach Don McKenzie finally got the boys to clicking and they've won three straight in the tourney, climaxed by last night's 38-37 conquest over Chauncey.

Canton McKinley, which has reached the state tournament more times than any other school, continued to roll in the Youngstown district with a 53-22 win over Youngstown Chaney. The Bulldogs have reached the state meet 13 times, and the final game four times, without winning a title. Marietta is second with 10 futile trips to the big meet.

Top game on tonight's slate pits Hamilton Public, defending State A champion, against Cincinnati Roger Bacon at Cincinnati. Another thriller on the same floor sends Purcell into action for the second straight night, against Walnut Hills, with the victors meeting tomorrow night for a berth in the regionals.

Portsmouth, the southeastern district Class A favorite, also sees action tonight, meeting Portsmouth East at Athens. A Lancaster-Nelsonville game also is booked there.

Delphos St. John, the Class B king, is idle until tomorrow night when the champs tangle with Wapakoneta St. Joseph at Celina.

State's Athletes Are Mostly Ohioans

COLUMBUS, March 7—(AP)—Ohio State used home-grown talent almost entirely in its recent unprecedented sweep of the Western Conference sports parade.

The record shows non-Buckeyes predominated in only one major sports-swimming.

Ohio State holds the co-championship in Big 10 football, the Rose Bowl trophy, and Big 10 championships in basketball, indoor track, swimming and rifle shooting. The Buckeyes played second in wrestling and will defend its championship in fencing next Saturday.

The Buckeye coaches have a wide field to choose from—1100 high schools with more than 20,000 football players and 25,000 basketball players.

Ohio lads numbered 42 out of 44 squad members on the trip to the Rose Bowl. Both non-Ohioans were third-string players.

Thirteen of fourteen men on the basketball team, which soon will compete in the NCAA tournament, are natives of the Buckeye state. This includes Dick Schnittker, the OSU candidate for All-America.

Every man on the indoor track squad is from Ohio. The same is true for the rifle team.

The exception is in swimming, where only seven of 23 men are Ohioans. But men come from all over the world to swim for Coach Mike Peppe, who has been turning out top-flight swimmers for years.

Mack Starts 50th Year With A's Still After Righthander

By HARRY GRAYSON
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—(NEA)—Baseball has changed a lot since Connie Mack quit the East Brookfield, Mass., shoe factory for it 66 years ago.

The game has made tremendous strides since Mr. Mack became the only manager the Athletics ever had 50 years back.

Yet one of the principal questions remains the same: Where's that right-hand power hitter?

"Any kind of a power hitter," adds Mr. Mack.

Given a hitter who can smack the sphere a fair piece, preferably from the right side of the plate, and the White Elephants could go farther than a lot of people suspect.

Mr. Mack's big hope at the moment is Ben John Guintini—pronounced Gintini—a well put together Italian, who at 30 is getting a second chance rather late. Guintini has been in the minors eight years, spent two in the armed forces, had a cup of coffee with the Pirates in 1946. The Philadelphia Americans drafted him on the strength of his 32 home runs, as many doubles and 95 runs-batted-in hitting 306 in 129 games with Dallas.

Surgeons grafted a piece of bone to the lower end of Barney McCosky's spine correcting his pinched nerve. The Dearborn Dandy expects to be batting within a fortnight, could give the outfit a real lift.

BUT UNLESS Guitini crashes the batting order, the outfield at the outset looks like Chapman, flanked by Valo and Moses or Lehner, and that's not enough. Bob Betz is a grand prospect, but it's a long hop from the Class C Mid-Atlantic.

Mr. Mack has a remarkable young pitching staff in the right-handed Fowler, Coleman and Scheib and the left-handed Alex Kellner, Brissie and Shantz.

Bob Hooper won 31 games in two campaigns for Buffalo. Angelo Nardella is up for a look as the first 20-game winner in the Piedmont League since before the war with the extraordinary earned-run average of 2.26.

The bugs out of his system and the miseries eliminated from his shoulder, any contribution by Phil Marchildon would be on the velvety side. Ed Hrabcsak, a six-foot four-inch right-hander, struck out 234 in 226 innings copping 19 for Stamford, Conn., of the Class B Colonial League, but has pitched only two terms.

Alex Kellner, the 20-game southpaw, said his 21-year-old brother, Walter, was faster than he was.

"And by gosh, he's right," beams Assistant Manager Earle Mack. Fresh from the University of Arizona, however, Walter unquestionably will serve his apprenticeship elsewhere.

Relief workers are, of course, Ed Klieman and big Charley Harris. Hank Wyse, who won 18 for Shreveport with an ERA of 2.81, demanded a $10,000 contract, which is why Mr. Mack let the ex-Cub sweat it out in Tulsa.

BOB DILLINGER adds speed and dash to the Athletics' infield, which otherwise remains the same with the double-play combination of Joost and Suder throwing to Fain. Tom Davis is still around, and there is also Billy Hitchcock.

Lou Limmer is a 23-year-old first baseman who manufactured 29 home runs driving in 105 runs batting .315 for Lincoln, so probably will be carried as insurance for Ferris Fain and as a pinch-hitter. Second Baseman Gene Markland hit 25 homers batting in 90 runs for Buffalo. Kermit Wahl, who plays shortstop and third base, hit 11 homers batting in 83 runs for Montreal. Someone has to go.

Joe Tipton gives the A's a thumping catcher to work with Fernin Guerra and Joe Astroth. The ex-Indian didn't hit it off with Jack Onslow as a member of the White Sox.

The Athletics are totally without individual stars. They function as a team to a greater extent than any other aggregation. And they should do considerably better than all right if Mr. Mack winds up with a right-hand power hitter.

Blackwell Says His Ailing Arm "Great"

TAMPA, Fla., March 7—(AP)—Ewell Blackwell pitched for 20 minutes yesterday and then said, "My arm feels great, really great."

And that sort of news wasn't at all displeasing to Manager Luke Sewell of the Cincinnati Reds.

The lanky Blackwell is the right-handed pitcher with the trick delivery who baffled National League hitters in 1947 and then ran into trouble in 1948 and 1949 because of an arm ailment and a kidney operation.

If "Blackie" gets hot in 1950, the Reds figure they can get out of that seventh place hole in the National League.

First baseman Ted Kluszewski, who was a holdout, was expected to arrive today to join his mates.

TIPPY DYE HONORED

CHICAGO, March 7—(AP)—The Chicago Basketball Writers Association yesterday named Tippy Dye of Ohio State University the cage coach of the year.

Dye steered his players to the Big Ten championship with an 11-1 conference record. The Buckeyes will play in the NCAA tourney this month.

Bob Lemon Signs For Estimated $40,000

TUCSON, Ariz., March 7—(AP)—Everyone breathed a little easier at the Cleveland Indians' spring training camp today—Bob Lemon was in the wigwag.

The big California pitcher, last of the Indian holdouts, got together with General Manager Hank Greenberg last night at an impromptu meeting, just when it looked as if contract negotiations had reached the deadlock stage.

Money was the big thing. Lemon was the Tribe's ace pitcher last season, with 22 wins and 10 losses. He was big-time in 1948, too, tossing 20 victories against 14 defeats.

The San Bernardino right-hander, probably glancing at Bob Feller's $45,000 salary, demanded more folding stuff for his pitching pains this season. How much more was the question.

Terms of Lemon's new contract were not given out, but it is believed he will receive $40,000. That's perhaps $5,000 under what he was asking but a handsome boost nevertheless.

Michigan State Bows Out With Track Win

EAST LANSING, Mich., March 7—(AP)—For Michigan State's Spartans their farewell to the Central Collegiate Conference track meet was as fitting as it could be.

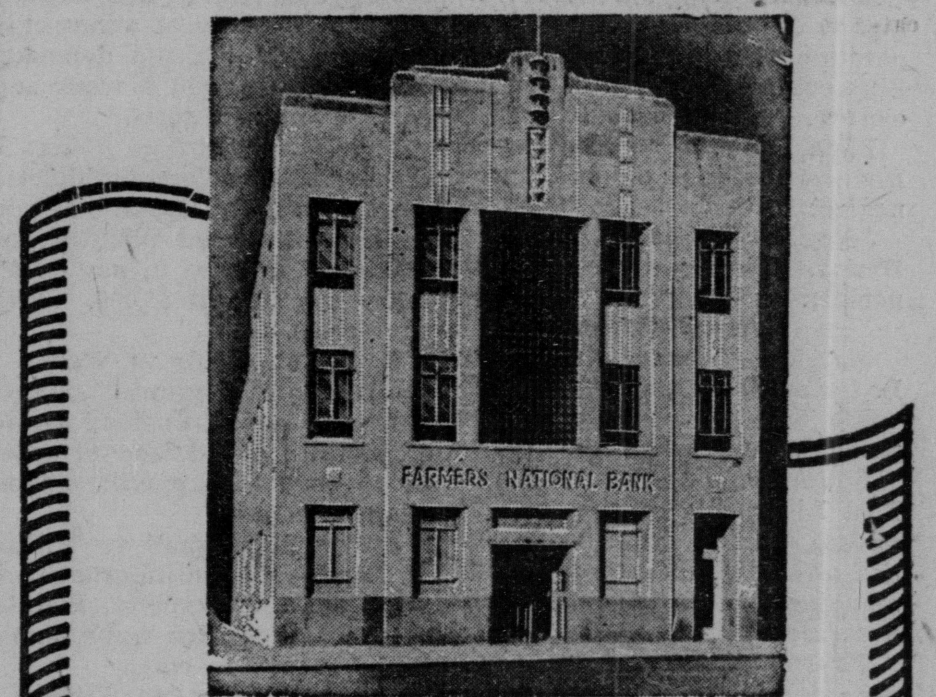

The crack Spartan squad ran off with the 23rd annual tournament yesterday, making it four in a row, as they bowed out in favor of future competition in the Big Ten.

Michigan State totaled 57 1-5 points, compared to runner-up Notre Dame's 34 and third-place Michigan Normal's 35 2-5.

Marquette scored 22 7-10 points, Drake 14, Miami (Ohio) 11 7-10, Wayne 10, Bradley 8, and De Paul 7.

Fight Results

Philadelphia — Kid Gavilan, 148½, Cuba, outpointed Otis Graham, 149½, Philadelphia, 10.
Miami, Fla.—Rocky Graziano, 162½, New York, knocked out Joe Curcio, 153½, Jersey City, N. J., 1.

Concert Group Plans Campaign

Drive To End This Week; Name Teams

With renewal week past, campaign captains and their teams with the executive officers and directors of the Northern Columbiana County Community Concert Association met last night to lay plans for the new member drive to conclude this week Saturday.

Harry Beall of New York, representative of Community General Service, was present at the dinner meeting in the Presbyterian Church. He commended the local association on its work and cooperation and told something about the establishment and activities of community concerts.

Student and adult memberships assure the owners attendance at four Salem concerts. They also are privileged to hear the programs offered by the Alliance concert group.

The next Alliance concert presents the famous DePaur Infantry Chorus on Wednesday, March 29, while the Salem season will be concluded with the appearance of the Revelers Male Quartet Sunday, April 23.

Walter Null, association president, presided at the meeting and expressed appreciation to Mrs. Walter Strain for the dinner arranged by her and her September committee of the church. A sound film gave the audience a taste of possible concert artists to appear here.

Mrs. George Jones arranged the beautifully decorated tables where the 75 guests were seated. Officers are: Mrs. Gail Rose, first vice president; Charles F. Fox, secretary, and Orin Naragan, treasurer.

The director roster includes Mrs. C. Richard Rose of Leetonia, Mrs. Strain, Bob Engel, Miss Martha K. Krauss, Thomas Crothers, Rev. Harold L. Ogden, Charles McCorkhill, Don Ham-mell, Jack Harroff, Mrs. George Jones, Mrs. Carl Beecher, Mrs. D. H. Hepburn of Lisbon. Mrs. Vesta King is second vice president and general chairman.

Mrs. Curtis Vaughan, headquarters secretary, may be reached by dialing 4523 in the Metzger Hotel.

The team lists include:

Mrs. J. Raymond Stiver, captain; Miss Mary Wolcott, Miss Marguerite Vincent, Homer Taylor, Mrs. Carl Beecher, Mrs. Chester Kridler, Mrs. Walter Hofmeister, Mrs. George Jones, Mrs. Harold Musser, Mrs. Melvin York, Mrs. William Fenton Ross, Mrs. Frank Stoult.

Miss Hilda Franke, captain, Mrs. Ray Pearce, Thomas Crothers, Miss Anna Cook, Mrs. James Primm, Mrs. James Appedison, Miss Naomi Shinn, Mrs. Fred Sweitzer, Jr., Miss Helen French.

Miss Martha Krauss, captain, Mrs. A. W. Leider, Miss Helen Derfus, Harold Harmon, Mrs. Myron Riegel, Mrs. Don Aubill, Mrs. David Carey, Miss Margaret Conway, Mrs. Frederick Lime-stahl, William Woods, Louis Ospeck.

Miss Carmen McNicol, captain; Miss Ann McLaughlin, Miss Mary Elizabeth O'Neil, Miss Mary Shriver, Mrs. Curtis Vaughan, Mrs. Clair Goddard, Miss Margaret Entriiken.

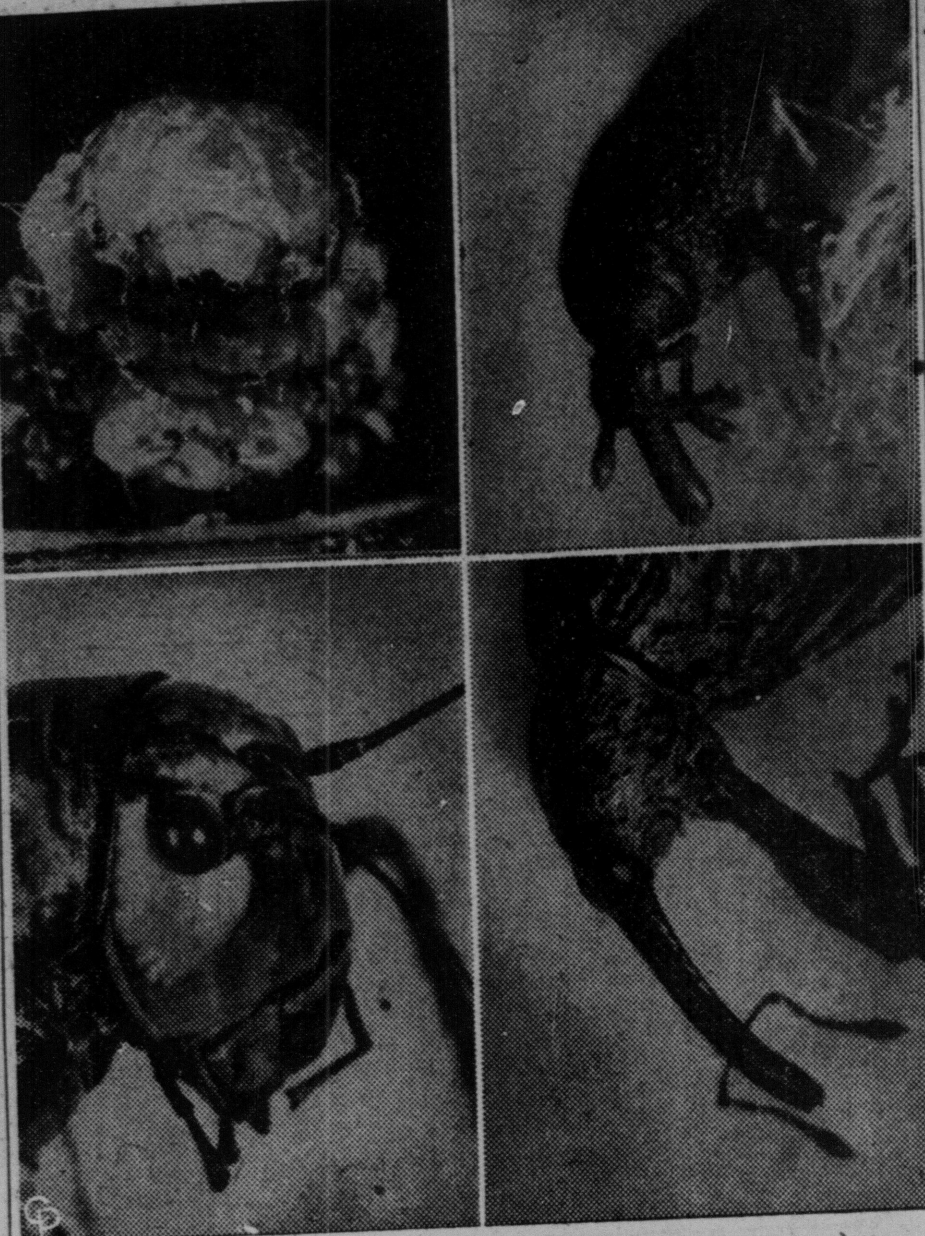

Mrs. Daniel Weber, captain; Mrs. William Seeman, Fred Theiss, Mrs. William Pauline, Miss Katherine Minth, Miss Inez Heisler, Mrs. John Kohrer, Fritz Krauss.

Mrs. Preston Snyder, captain; Miss Doris Tetlow, Mrs. Clifford Zimmerman, Mrs. Edward Corn-any, Miss Ruth Baltorin, Curtis Vaughan, Dale Engel, Miss Mary Bunn, Mrs. Glenn Whitacre.

George Karlis, captain, Marshall Sutherland, George Ryser, Harry Loria, Harold Hutten-hower, Walter Hunston.

Business and Professional Women's team, Miss Gertrude Butera, captain, Mrs. Frank Byerly, Miss Ruth Cosgrove, Mrs. Thomas Corrigan, Mrs. Robert Zarbaugh.

Columbiana, Miss Leona Ehrhart, assistant, Mrs. Robert Ross; Lisbon, Mrs. D. H. Hepburn, assisted by Miss Mary Lodge and Mrs. R. John Taylor, Jr.; Leetonia, Mrs. Richard Rose; Dam-mas, Miss Mary French.

HERE'S A ROGUE'S GALLERY of outstanding crop killers. The U. S. Department of Agriculture in Washington has sent out warning that millions of them will be on the loose this summer. Early mild winter weather in many sections has caused them to multiply in almost unprecedented numbers. They are (1 to 4, top): the corn worm and the sitophilus and (bottom) Mormon cricket and boll weevil.

Deaths and Funerals

Mrs. Jasper Price

NORTH LIMA, March 7—Mrs. Maude S. Price, 58, of R. D. 1, North Lima, died at 1:10 a. m. today at Youngstown South Side hospital after a short illness.

Born July 25, 1891, in Indiana, she was the daughter of Noah and Lucinda Shank. Her husband, Jasper, survives. Mrs. Price was a member of the Mennonite Church.

Other survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Ernest Kamper and Mrs. Sylvester Martig of Salem, and Mrs. Robert Mikesell of New Springfield; a son, Paul of Columbiana; five grandchildren; four sisters, Mrs. Ira Blosser of Leetonia, Mrs. Ruben Kocher of Alliance, Mrs. Will Troyer of Elkhart, Ind., and Mrs. Harry Cole of Cortland and five brothers, Vernon of Warren, Albert of Steubenville, Charles of Negley, Ray of East Palestine and Lloyd of Leavittsburg.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Fry Funeral Home in Columbiana, with Rev. A. J. Steiner officiating. Burial will be at the Midway Mennonite Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday evening.

Mrs. George Wenderoth

COLUMBIANA, March 7—Mrs. Carolyn Agnes Volz Wenderoth, 81, died at 12:30 a. m. today in her home at 157 1/2 S. Main st. after two-months illness.

Born April 18, 1868, in Pomeroy, she was the daughter of Henry and Agnes Theiss Volz. In 1886 she married George Wenderoth, who survives.

The Wenderoths came to Columbiana from Newport, Ky., in 1911. Mrs. Wenderoth was a member of the Grace Evangelical Reformed Church, past noble grand of the Rebecca Lodge and in 1929 received a degree of chivalry in that lodge. She was a past chief of the Pythian Sisters.

Survivors, besides her husband, include two daughters, Mrs. Estelle Reemer and Mrs. Edith Tidd of Columbiana; three sons, Melvin of Columbiana, Arthur of Akron and Clifford of Milford; eight grandchildren; two great-grandchildren and three sisters and two brothers, Mrs. Frank Paskey, Mrs. Elmer Kerns and Phillip Volz of Cincinnati, Mrs. Lillian Nichols of Hollywood and Albert Volz of Dayton, Ky.

Private funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Seederly funeral home here, with Rev. Waldo Bartels officiating. Burial will be in Columbiana Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday evening.

Stock Exchange

Market Unsettled, Trend Undetermined

NEW YORK, March 7—(AP)—The stock market blew off considerable steam at the opening today but couldn't decide which way to go.

Numerous leaders backed down fractionally. At the same time there was a liberal sprinkling of plus signs.

Lower prices were paid for U. S. Rubber, Dow Chemical, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Studebaker, General Motors, Youngstown Sheet, Boeing, Radio Corp., Consolidated Vultee, and U. S. Steel.

Higher were American Telephone, American Smelting, Packard, Standard Oil (N.J.), General Electric, National Distillers, and Woolworth.

Reappraisal Ordered

Of Mahoning Property

COLUMBUS, March 7—(AP)—The State Board of Tax Appeals today ordered Mahoning county commissioners to provide the county auditor with $270,000 for a reappraisal of all real property in the county.

The board said real property in the county was not viewed and appraised in 1949 as required by law. The last general reappraisal in the county was made in 1943. Since then, only new structures have been appraised.

State law required a reappraisal at least every six years. The board found that County Auditor Charles B. Rayburn was willing to comply with the law if given money to make the reappraisal, but the county commissioners refused.

The board said the commissioners were willing to appropriate $100,000 and a smaller amount each year, but "this amount is insufficient as even the county commissioners should know."

The county commissioners solicited one bid for a reappraisal and received an estimate of $271,000, the board said. The other bids, solicited by the county auditor, ranged from $265,000 to $272,000.

Receiver Begins Cut In Lustron Expenses

COLUMBUS, March 7—(AP)—A court-appointed receiver for the Lustron Corp., today launched an effort to reduce operating expenses at the giant prefabricated housing firm.

As his first step, Clyde M. Foraker, receiver, said he would make an immediate plant survey to see if operating expenses of about $35,000 a day can be reduced.

During foreclosure proceedings in the court of Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood, the Reconstruction Finance Corp. said Lustron was losing about $35,000 a day or approximately $175,000 for a five-day operating week.

Foraker, former chief of the field division in the local internal revenue office, was appointed receiver yesterday.

Foraker began his duties after resigning his government post and supplying $100,000 bond. He will be advised by two experts—D. W. Boylan, secretary-comptroller of Lustron since its inception several years ago, and Paul Boardman, Cleveland Reconstruction Finance Corp., examiner who serviced Lustron notes.

The RFC also was granted a $36,593,969.93 judgment against Lustron—the full amount of the RFC claims. The government agency had loaned Lustron $37,500,000.

Lustron will continue to operate for 30 days under the receiver. Under the setup Lustron can not be sold without its consent until after a 45-day notice. The plan was devised by counsel for the RFC and Lustron.

next fall, when the steel industry contracts can be reopened on pay rates.

Evidently Lewis hopes to set the wage spiral going again, so when his new coal contract can be reopened in April, 1951, he can argue he is justified in demanding still another pay boost for miners.

Production Returning

PITTSBURGH, March 7—(AP)—Coal production sped toward normal today in the wake of a month-long soft coal strike.

The coal poured in steady streams from towering mine tipples into waiting gondola and hopper cars that rushed them to fuel-needy areas.

Nearly a third of the idle diggers happily shouldered picks and shovels yesterday. The work return of the 372,000 striking United Mine Workers is expected to be virtually complete today.

Industries, hard hit by the shutdown, quickly threw off the strike-imposed shackles.

Steel firms and railroads recalled thousands of the more than 225,000 workers idled by the coal walkout.

relating to the national defense to a citizen of a foreign power, Russia, with the belief it would be used to injure the United States. This was the most serious charge and carries a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison, but no fine.

The Soviet delegation headquarters in New York had no immediate comment after learning the verdict.

The case has attracted international interest. The U. S. government branded it as daring, cold-blooded spying. Moscow, on the other hand, called it a frame-up.

Gubitchew's lawyers maintained that the meetings of the two in New York were simply a matter of love.

After both defendants had left the courtroom, Abraham L. Pom-erantz, the Russian's lawyer, told reporters:

"She's acquitted of an attempt to pass to him. He's convicted of an attempt to receive from her. I can make no sense of this. It simply indicates to me the terrific confusion in this case."

He said that on Thursday he would make motions to set aside the verdict.

Twin Coach Co. May Move Out Of Kent

KENT, March 7—(AP)—The head of Twin Coach Co., this Portage county city's largest industry, is thinking about consolidating the firm's bus-manufacturing operations in Buffalo.

In a 10-page memorandum to company officials and representatives of the CIO United Automobile workers local, F. R. Fageol, chairman of the Twin Coach Co. board, said the firm could save $350,000 a year by the move.

Closing of the bus plant here would mean withdrawal of a payroll of about 500 from the community.

An average-sized passenger plane uses 182 light bulbs to light interiors, instruments, indicators, and for navigating and signaling. There are 104 different types of bulbs in general use for aircraft and 57 other types for airports and airways.
